Heart Disease

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top government heart specialist Friday reported an unaccountably sharp increase of hardening of the arteries among American women under age 45.

The heart-affecting disease, called atherosclerosis, is the nation's chief cause of death, striking primarily men over 34 and women past 54.

Dr. Theodore Cooper, director of the National Heart and Lung Institute, said there has been an 11 per cent increase in the disease among women under 45 in the past seven years.

It's conceivable the increase might be associated with new women's action programs, Cooper said, including new exposures to "many factors in this man's world."

But he hedged when a newsmen asked him at a news conference if he meant there might be "too much 'women's lib.'"

He first replied with a smile that he didn't know about that and that, indeed, "women's lib might be therapeutic."

But he said he had in mind possible increased exposure of young women in recent years to life-style factors that have long been termed risk factors for getting the disease.

These include, he suggested, over-eating in general and diets high in animal and dairy fats, cigarette smoking, possibly environmental factors and "affluence ... (too much) car-driving and sedentary living."

But Cooper stressed there is no proof that these factors are direct causes of the malady.

He said the increase among younger women might be due to better surveillance of the disease among both men and women.

"In the past," he said, "we have concentrated largely on middle-aged men ... but now we may have to concentrate more on (younger) women as well ..."

Cooper spoke at a symposium staged by the American Heart Association on the status of research and treatment of major heart ailments.

N. Ireland Violence

BELFAST (AP) — Northern Ireland had on Friday its worst day of violence since Britain took over the province two weeks ago. Four persons were killed.

Bombings and gunfire erupted just hours after announcement of major British conciliatory gestures aimed at placating the Roman Catholic minority.

William Whitelaw, the British administrator of the province, ordered the release of 73 suspected terrorists interned without trial. He also abandoned the use of the prison ship Maidstone as a floating jail.

The outlawed Irish Republican Army continued its campaign to unite Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic by violence. The death toll from three years of strife between the Protestant majority and rebeling Catholics rose to 298.

A British army trooper patrolling Belfast's Catholic Ballymurphy district was shot to death by a sniper.

Across the city, in the residential Bawnmore Grove quarter, three men were blown to bits while loading explosives into a car.

Three bombs shook other portions of Belfast. A gas station blast injured three persons; a Boy Scout supply shop was wrecked after a young couple planted a 30-minute time bomb, and an explosion severely damaged a liquor store after two youths gave the proprietor and customers 15 minutes to get out.

Elsewhere in the province, three snipers ambushed a helicopter-borne army patrol as it touched down on the outskirts of Londonderry. The soldiers said they drew 70 rounds without injury but believed a gunman fell in the exchange of fire.

The violence broke out despite Whitelaw's release of some of the internees suspected of belonging to the IRA. There were among 700 detained under emergency laws passed last August.

The IRA is demanding an end to internment without trial in exchange for a halt in its guerrilla tactics. The British government said last month when it took over the Ulster government the practice would be phased out if no new terrorism resulted.

LBJ—Heart Attack

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)— Former President Lyndon B. Johnson was described as in stable condition Friday after being rushed to a hospital with chest pains.

The pains occurred in the early morning hours as Johnson and his wife were spending the night at the home of their daughter, Lynda Bird, and her family.

A spokesman at University of Virginia Hospital said in early afternoon that the 63-year-old Johnson's pain had subsided and that he was resting comfortably.

Johnson has a history of heart trouble, but spokesmen for the hospital declined to say whether he had a heart attack.

The spokesman said Johnson would remain in the hospital for observation, but he could not say for how long.

Johnson and his wife, Lady Bird Johnson, flew here Thursday for a two-day visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robb, and their two grandchildren.

About 4 a.m., the family said, the former president awoke with chest pains at the Robb home in Farmington, a fashionable suburb several miles outside Charlottesville.

A rescue squad ambulance was dispatched to the Robb residence and shortly afterward the Robbs' physician, Dr. Richard S. Crampton, arrived with a mobile coronary care unit from the hospital.

Johnson was taken to the hospital at 5:30 a.m.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Robb stayed close to his bedside.

"I think that everything is going to be all right," but we thought it best that he be hospitalized," Mrs. Johnson said.

Dr. John Willis Hurst, a heart specialist who treated Johnson when he suffered a heart attack July 2, 1955, while still Senate majority leader, flew here from Atlanta to examine Johnson.

The Johnsons had planned to leave here for Washington Saturday to attend a wedding.

They arrived here after attending the funeral at Chapel Hill, Tenn., of former Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington, who died Monday of a heart attack. Ellington headed the Office of Emergency Planning during Johnson's presidency.

Viet District Capital Falls

SAIGON: North Vietnamese troops Friday captured the district capital of Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of here, and laid siege to An Loc, 10 miles to the south, in a growing threat to Saigon. Elsewhere, a band of Communist infiltrators cut Highway 1, just 15 miles from Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport, and enemy troops launched a series of wide-scale attacks in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, in what appeared to be the start of a major new offensive. ## Jobs, Jobless Rate Both Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp growth in jobs and a drop in wholesale meat prices cheered the White House Friday, but Democrats pointed to a rise in the unemployment rate in the growing political debate over the nation's economy.

"The people who are seeking jobs are finding jobs," said White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler after the Labor Department reported that the nation's total employment rose 620,000 to 81.2 million in March.

But the report also said the jobless rate rose from 5.7 to 5.9 per cent of the work force. Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said, "The latest figures make it even more unlikely that the Nixon administration can reach its stated year-end goal of 5 per cent." Even that goal, O'Brien added, is too high.

The Labor Department also reported that the Wholesale Price Index covering a broad range of foods and industrial goods posted the smallest rise in five months, one-tenth of one per cent.

Marina Whitman, recently named first woman to serve on the President's Council of Economic Advisors, said the administration is delighted at the sharp slowing of wholesale price hikes but that there is still a long way to go to reduce inflation to President Nixon's target rate of about 2.5 per cent by year end.

The best news in the price report was a 3.6 per cent drop in meat prices, which had climbed steeply the last few months both at wholesale and retail levels. Wholesale food prices over all dropped four-tenths of one per cent, the first decline in seven months.

An earlier reported rise in supermarket meat prices had raised outcry for stiffer federal price controls on food.

The Labor Department also said average earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose 2 cents per hour to $3.57 and weekly earnings climbed $1.09 to $131.73, reflecting both the hourly pay rise and a slight increase in the length of the average work week.

Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, said the figures on prices and wages indicated Nixon's economic program was working but he said, "It's failed, I think dramatically, on the employment end."

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops swarmed around a provincial capital north of Saigon Friday, apparently intent on seizing the town as a major political prize, something denied Hanoi so far in its 10-day-old offensive.

An Loc, the provincial capital under siege deep in rubber plantation country 60 miles north of Saigon, was imperiled by elements of a four-division enemy thrust.

The pressure on the town was so intense that 15 members of the American advisory team were pulled out in an emergency helicopter evacuation. One U.S. adviser was wounded when the chopper was hit by ground fire.

The tank-led enemy surge across the Cambodian border earlier in the day overwhelmed the government defenders at Loc Ninh, a district capital 15 miles north of An Loc and that provincial capital's last remaining major defensive outpost. The fighting reportedly has cost both sides heavily in casualties and clearly was the allies' major crisis point for the moment.

The action also was the closest serious enemy activity to Saigon, although more than a dozen attacks were counted in the Mekong Delta to the south of Saigon. That area had been relatively calm.

Fighting continued at a low level on the northern front south of the demilitarized zone where enemy drives halted short of two key objectives, the ancient imperial capital of Hue and Quang Tri City, the nation's northernmost provincial capital. Loss of either town or any provincial capital such as An Loc would give the enemy important psychological and political victories.

Senate Panel Decides To Continue Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee put new life into the Richard G. Kleindienst hearings Friday by narrowly deciding to continue them for at least eight days and to explore new allegations of a cover-up by the Justice Department.

The 8-7 agreement to continue the hearings until April 20 was as surprising for the close count as the source of the votes which carried it.

The compromise had been considered a Democratic victory, but in the end six Republicans and two Democrats voted for it.

Chairman Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said the committee hearings will resume Monday, calling federal officials from San Diego to testify about allegations that a federal investigation there was squelched while Kleindienst was deputy attorney general.

Kleindienst had already won the committee's approval to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general, but asked that the hearings be resumed after publication of a controversial memo by columnist Jack Anderson.

The memo, allegedly written by International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. lobbyist Mrs. Dita Beard, drew a connection between a commitment of at least $200,000 to the Republican National Convention and the out-of-court settlement of anti-trust suits filed by the Justice Department against ITT.

After 12 days of hearings on that subject, however, the committee will now turn to an exploration of the San Diego charges originally published by Life magazine.

In a sworn affidavit to the committee, former Internal Revenue Service agent A. David Stutz said U.S. Atty. Harry D. Steward choked off an investigation into bribery and illegal political contributions in 1969.

Among those mentioned in the Life story was C. Arnholt Smith, a longtime friend of President Nixon and heavy contributor to Republican election campaigns.

As deputy attorney general, Kleindienst, on the basis of an FBI report on Steward's activities, cleared him of any wrongdoing.

"I have investigated the matter and determined there has been no wrongdoing," he said at the time.

Steward is still the U.S. attorney in San Diego and is expected to be among the first witnesses called.

Laird Says Bombs, U.S. Troop Strength Will Keep Dropping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Friday U.S. planes will continue to bomb North Vietnam until Hanoi pulls its army back across the demilitarized zone and shows willingness to negotiate seriously.

"The enemy has shown no willingness to seriously negotiate in Paris," Laird told a news conference. "It has shown no movement back across the DMZ and until those conditions are met, of course, we will continue to use the necessary power in order to protect our forces as they withdraw from South Asia."

At the same time, the defense secretary made it plain that U.S. ground troops will not be sent back into South Vietnam to help the hard-pressed South Vietnamese army deal with a growing North Vietnamese offensive.

"We will go forward with the withdrawal," Laird said, promising that "we will meet" President Nixon's next withdrawal objective of dropping U.S. troop strength in Vietnam down to 69,000 by May 1. That strength is now below 95,000.

Laird expressed confidence that "the South Vietnamese have the capability to handle the situation on the ground."

He reported that South Vietnamese regular army and militia in the invasion area are "holding their positions well have regrouped in adequate fashion."

The defense secretary declined to spell out how far U.S. bombers will be permitted to range in what shapes up as a nonstop air campaign.

"I am not going to discuss the specific operating authority," he said.

Other defense officials have indicated that the main concentration will be in an area of perhaps 50 miles in the lower North Vietnamese panhandle from which they say the invasion is supported with supplies and reinforcements.

Laird indicated that more U.S. warplanes and naval warships are being readied for commitment to trying to beat back the North Vietnamese attackrs.

The United States already has sent additional B52 bombers to the western Pacific, raising the number of the heavy jets to about 100, about the strength of this force in Southeast Asia at the peak of the bombing campaign in 1968.

Also, F105 fighter-bombers are being sent back from the United States, with other aircraft on alert.

Laird stopped short of declaring a return to the full-scale bombing campaign as it was before the Johnson administration ordered a halt in 1968.

But he did assert that the North Vietnamese have "completely set aside the understandings of 1968" that he said led to the bombing halt.

Johnson and Nixon administration officials have said there was an understanding at the time that the North Vietnamese would not violate the DMZ and attack South Vietnamese cities if negotiations were pursued. The North Vietnamese have denied ever entering into any understandings.

Political, Military Realities Narrow Viet Options

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says it is keeping "all options open" in coping with North Vietnam's offensive. But the political and military realities have narrowed these choices to how much bombing to use.

"We're certainly not going to send the Marines back in," said one Pentagon official.
Theoretically, the Nixon administration has open to it a range of possible courses, in addition to intensified air attacks on the enemy forces in South Vietnam, on North Vietnam, on the Ho Chi Minh Trail, and on the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

These possibilities include:
—Bombing raids into the lower North Vietnamese panhandle above the demilitarized zone in an effort to destroy supply depots, disrupt troop and supply movements and staging areas from which the offensive was launched.

—Punitive bombing raids deeper into North Vietnam, perhaps aimed at supply, air and training bases and other military targets closer to the port city of Haiphong and the capital of Hanoi.
—Reversal of the withdrawal and reintroduction of U.S. ground combat troops to help the South Vietnamese repel the North Vietnamese.
—Commitment of the relatively small number of U.S. ground troops still in Vietnam to the battle.
—Acceleration of the U.S. troop pullout.

The Nixon administration's political strategists know that the surest way to revive the Vietnam issue this presidential campaign year would be to send American troops back into Vietnam.

Such an action would hand Democratic presidential hopefuls the ammunition to claim that the administration had broken promises to end U.S. involvement in the war, that the administration's Vietnamization policy had failed.

Commitment of the 10,000 or so ground-combat soldiers still in Vietnam would surely increase American casualties and invite political critics to assert that the administration is wasting lives in a panic reaction.

As things stand, those troops are supposed to be there only to guard American support bases and units during the continuing withdrawal.

Apart from the political facet of the problem, the United States is in a none-too-good position to reintroduce major ground forces into Vietnam in time to have any decisive effect.

The only sizable American ground unit available in the Far East is the 3rd Marine Division based on Okinawa. The Army's 2nd Infantry Division is in South Korea, but is committed to defense of that country.

Any decision to send major Army and Marine ground forces back to Vietnam from the United States would involve a huge airlift and logistics effort that would reverse the gains of a withdrawal program that's been under way for nearly three years.

On the other side of the coin, any crash speed-up in the withdrawal of U.S. troops would fly in the face of Nixon administration insistence that it will never yield to military duress from North Vietnam and will keep troops in South Vietnam until the last American war prisoner is free.

All this seems to point toward the probability of some sort of stepped-up U.S. bombing, which would be in line with President Nixon's assertions that U.S. air power will be used where necessary.

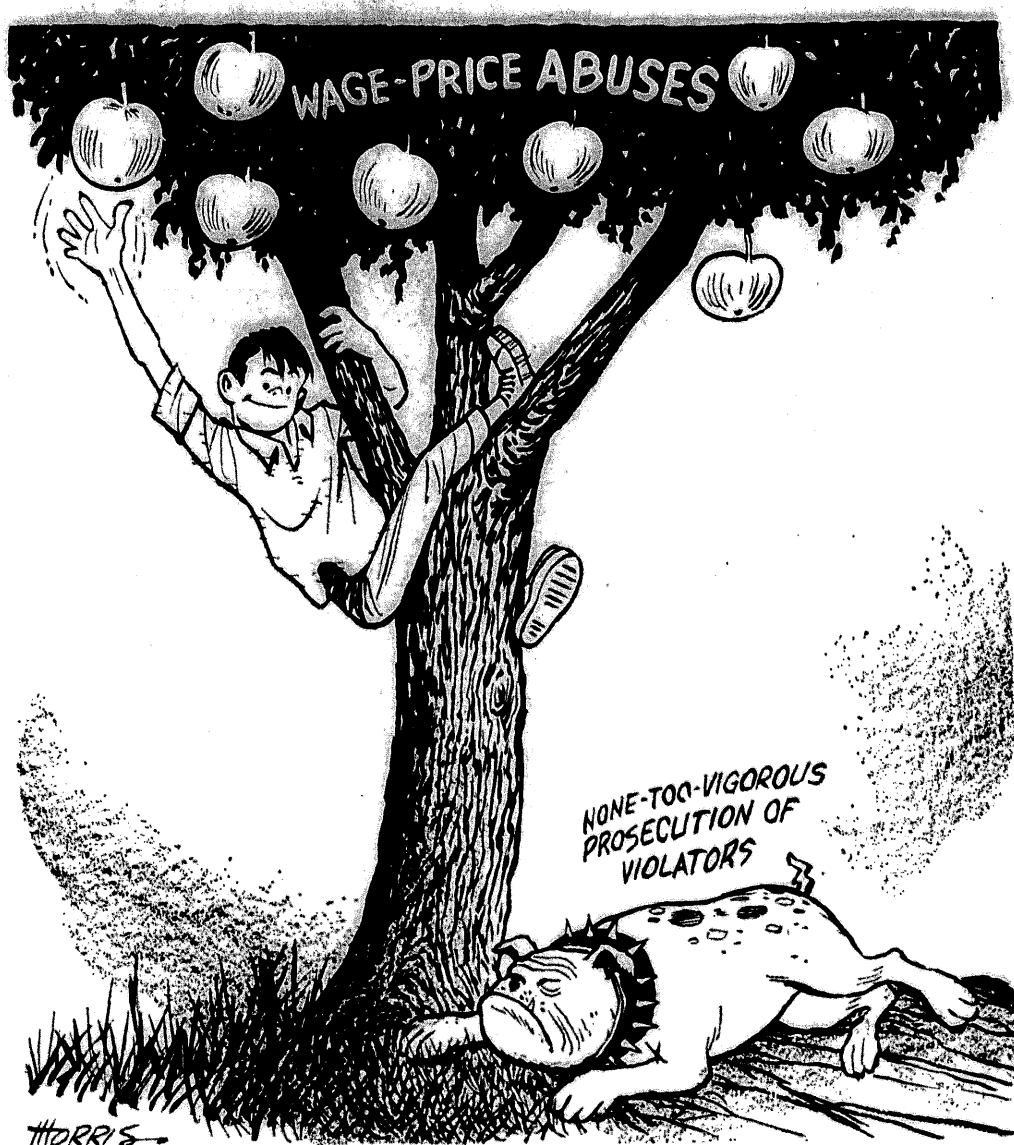

The sending of nearly 20 additional B52 bombers to the Western Pacific from the United States and the movement of a fourth aircraft carrier to the Vietnamese coast underscores this.

If the United States should send many of the roughly 700 U.S. attack and bomber planes on deep strikes into North Vietnam—say to the Hanoi-Haiphong areas which have been mostly unscathed since the 1968 bombing halt—there is a strong likelihood that the Democratic critics and peace groups would accuse the administration of a major war escalation. This would carry political hazards domestically and probably bring widespread international criticism.

A more likely prospect is that, when the weather permits, U.S. airplanes will swarm over the lower North Vietnamese panhandle, which a Pentagon spokesman has defined as linked to the invasion because, he said, it contains supply and other support for the attacking North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam.

How effective such strikes would be could be determined only by subsequent events on the battlefield.

China Reversal:

'Out' Officials Getting Back In

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — What amounts to a bloodless counterrevolution apparently has taken place in China. Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai are not affected.

But beneath this topmost level, there has been a comeback of some of the highest officials purged in the Cultural Revolution. This is reported in letters just arrived from Hong Kong citing a great deal of evidence from official sources.

Moreover, the resurgence of old-timers extends so far down through the ranks and to so many provinces that in many respects it seems to mean a repudiation of the tumultuous Cultural Revolution, which had aimed at restructuring Mao's China.

Whatever the meaning, the current shifts seem to bring back into prominence the same group of men who ran the Communist party in the days of the Yan'an caves 27 years ago.

Liu Shao-chi, Mao's disgraced former heir apparent, is still missing. So are Peng Te-huai and Lin Biao, Mao's latest chosen successor. Chen Yi is dead. But a heavy share of others castigated and disgraced in the Cultural Revolution are now being honored in public.

In China, official public honor and appearance at certain types of gatherings are synonymous with power.

Former Marshal Chu Teh, once head of all the Chinese Communist armies, on Jan. 24 of this year appeared as head of the Standing Committee of the National Peoples Congress for the first time since 1966.

Former Marshals Nieh Jung-chen and Hsu Hsiang-chien, vice-chairmen of the Chinese Communist party Central Military Affairs Committee, are back in sight with honor. So is former Central Committee member Liao Cheng-chih. Mao recently paid unusual honor to a former marshal and foreign minister, Chen Yi, who was disgraced after defending Liu Shao-chi.

(In the system which prevails in China, a man may be disgraced and ousted from his influence and power, but still keep his old titles and posts on paper, while not being allowed to carry out his duties. Liu Shao-chi, for example, though purged, has never been relieved of his title as president.)

As noted, the comeback extends down to the lowest levels. In those regions for which data is available, the reports indicate that more than 90 per cent of the old cadres at county level and below have been restored to their old or equal positions of local power and influence.

There are also reports that railway cadres removed in the Cultural Revolution for following Liu Shao-chi, are now also being restored to their posts.

So far has this reversal progressed that those who oppose restoration of the veteran cadres are now being condemned as "ultra leftists," a most serious charge in Chinese Communist terminology.

Many, perhaps most, of these men and women now regaining influence at the lower and middle levels were followers of Liu Shao-chi, who as noted above is the disgraced former No. 2 man in China. There is, however, no evidence as yet that Liu has made a comeback.

Experts OK Laughter

Dear Ann: The doctors are at it again. Every other week they come up with something that is harmful to Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public. If it isn't cholesterol, it's smog. Now they tell us to stop laughing. A scientist at Stanford University says laughing can be hazardous to your health. He claims laughter disrupts normal breathing and can contribute to strokes in people who are susceptible. He also points out that there is no literature detailing the massive muscular activity associated with laughter and we have much to learn in his area.

I have always believed that laughter was good for people—and now this. Any comment, Ann? What do your experts say?—Afraid to Hear a Joke

Dear Ann: My experts say go ahead and laugh—if you can find something to laugh about these days. (And P.E. Pass it on, will ya?)

Dear Ann Landers: I earnestly believe that every person has the right to be nutty on one subject. My subject is cigarette smoking. I've always hated it—especially in women. After the Surgeon General's report established an indisputable link between cigarettes and lung cancer, I was sure millions of people would quit smoking. But they didn't.

Now, a doctor in Redding, California, has discovered something that will probably have a far greater impact on women than the fear of lung cancer. The doctor has proven that cigarette smoking can result in premature wrinkles. It has been known for years that nicotine causes the small blood vessels in the skin to contract. Over a period of time this could produce wrinkling. So please print my letter, Ann, and let's hope that by appealing to the vanity of heavy smokers we can get them to put an end to the self-destruction.—A Person

Who Loves People

Dear Person: I love people, too, but I learned long ago that you can't save people from themselves. Heavy smokers are physically addicted to tobacco as surely as the junkie who is hooked on smack. And, in addition to the physical addiction, there's a psychological problem. He must like himself well enough to go through the discomfort of kicking his habit. Unless the addict is willing to suffer the pangs of withdrawal, nothing can help him.

Dear Ann Landers: Two months ago I borrowed my girlfriend's floor cleaner. While I was setting up the cleaner, it caught on fire. I called her immediately and told her what had happened. I explained I had not done anything wrong—that there must have been a short somewhere and I would take it to the repair shop for her at once.

Three weeks later the man from the shop called to say the price for repairing the cleaner would be $40. I telephoned my friend and told her about the repair charge and asked her how much she had paid for it new. She said, "Sixty dollars." I told her I'd take the cleaner to another shop and get a second estimate. Her reply was, "I think you ought to buy me a new machine." I was shocked.

Yesterday I bought a new floor cleaner for her and it cost $79. Did I do the right thing or am I a fool?—Flat Broke in Illinois

Dear Flat: Was the girl's friendship worth $79? If you had not replaced the floor cleaner or things it would be curtains. The burden is on the borrower, not the lender. Granted, your nose is slightly out of joint, but if I were in your place, I'd rather it be my nose than hers. You did the right thing and I salute you.

Law For Today

Q. At the fast-food drive-in where I work we get a "short and sweet" lunch period—15 minutes, hamburgers and french fries. We're lucky to get another break at any time. Isn't there a law that says how much rest an employee should get?

A. No. The law proscribes working hours and conditions but the question of lunch hours, coffee breaks or other rest periods is between employees and their employers. In many cases, of course, they are provided in union contracts. But the only state law requiring a lunch period applies to school teachers—and it could be as short as 30 minutes.

Solzhenitsyn's Charges

Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn is not only one of the principal contemporary figures in world literature, he also is a man of exceptional courage and tenacity. The latest evidence of this is what he said in an interview highlighted by the charge that Soviet authorities are making elaborate efforts "to suffocate me."

Such an observation may in itself have the effect of intensifying the Kremlin's actions designed to intimidate if not actually to silence this winner of the Nobel prize. It is a hazardous game he is playing, as the fate of some other Soviet writers attests. His stature outside the Soviet Union may give him some assurance that he will not simply be hustled off to prison, but at best his charges against the authorities entail considerable risk.

Since 1965, says Solzhenitsyn, he has been the object of an official campaign to "drive me out of society or out of the country, throw me in a ditch or send me to Siberia or have me dissolve in an alien fog..." He reports that to this end his reputation has been attacked again and again, without giving him opportunity to reply, at lectures and meetings; that his wife was fired from her job in a Moscow institute; that the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Trade has made it "degrading, difficult and uncertain for me" to collect his $78,000 Nobel prize money; that officials are putting difficulties in the way of his work on a new historical novel.

In the latter connection the author made an interesting remark. Noting that whereas the government has hindered his work on the project, he is getting help from many individuals, he said he feels that "I am working for Russia, and Russia is helping me." This seems to be the thrust of Solzhenitsyn's thinking—to distinguish between a repressive, authoritarian government and the people who are his countrymen. It is a crucial distinction in such a society.

To the Editor:

The Koster Benefit Auction held in Winchester, Illinois, on March 25th was an even greater success than we had hoped for. Entirely through the efforts of citizens in a seven county area surrounding Eldred, Illinois, more than $5,000 was raised toward meeting the budget required if the 1972 Koster Expedition is to resume work in June. More than 100 of my fellow scientists and students are preparing to return to the lower Illinois Valley and to reopen the main excavation at the Koster site.

Our success has created our problems. We halted excavations last September having reached the eighth community ruin, carbon-14 dated at 4200 B.C. and situated 18 feet below present ground surface. Now we are prepared to excavate into the very deepest and earliest village ruins. The problems of potential cave-in, of removing our own back dirt, and of dealing with ground water, have swelled our budget. It is only because of community efforts like that represented by the Koster Auction that we will be able to meet our budget requirements and actually return to the Koster site in June.

My archeological colleagues throughout the United States are astonished at the unusual efforts that people from St. Louis to Springfield to Jacksonville to Pittsfield and beyond have made to support the Koster Project. There is, among archeologists, a tendency to think that they only are interested in the history of early Indians in America. The great many people who contributed items to be auctioned at Winchester, or who contributed their services in any of a dozen ways show this to be wrong.

The students and staff of the Koster Expedition are indebted to everyone who helped to make the Koster Benefit Auction a success, and on their behalf, I would like to thank every one of your readers who had a part in the Auction.

To help repay their kindness, we are hiring full-time, trained guides who will be on duty seven days a week at the Koster site and at the Kampsville Archeological Museum beginning on June 12th. I hope that your readers will accept my invitation to visit both the site and Museum during June, July or August.

confidence that is matched by tremendous energy when it comes to those projects which have a personal appeal to you. You will work well and hard on any endeavor, to be sure, but those activities which suit you, which appeal to your imagination and inflame your interest will draw from you the kind of labor and the kinds of determined intensity seldom seen in ordinary mortals. All of which should point to the fact that you are destined to be more than ordinary.
Although you appreciate what money can buy and know it to be a necessity of life for that reason, you have very little concern for it insofar as its relationship to work is concerned. You would, in fact, prefer to work for nothing on a labor of love and interest than for a fortune on a project for which you could summon no real enthusiasm.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.
Sunday, April 9
ARIES (March 22-April 20)—A day when you could easily allow your feelings to spin out of control. The wise Aries will think first and emote some other day.
TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—A person of some influence could well make this an exceptional day for you. Consider—and reconsider—what bearing today's decisions have on your career.
GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Take care to avoid misunderstandings with loved ones. These are days when a slight error on your part looms large in the eyes of others.
CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Don't make a secret of your need for comfort. Morning worship does much to soothe hurt feelings. Bring received cheer home with you.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—A disquieting morning—but one which serves you well in the long run by issuing in improvements for the afternoon. Consider earlier plans.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Anger and problems on the domestic scene go together. Take your time when it comes to a matter of discipline; a kindness takes you far.
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Though Sunday, an opportunity for advancement presents itself. You can make contact with higher-ups if you go about it the right way.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Morning church attendance is important to the Scorpio who would calm the intensity of his emotional responses. Learn to react coolly.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—A problem of health could well begin to interfere with your activities. Don't be surprised at the attitude another takes at this time.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—A highly satisfying day for the Capricorn who takes the advice of loved ones. Don't be so sure of yourself that you fail to show appreciation.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—When it comes to travel, use the utmost in care. These are days that could benefit from your knowledge of another's past. Guard against accident.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—There is danger of deception in your relationship with another this morning. You can take heart, however, in the knowledge that it is unwitting.

Requests For Tax Extension Deadline Near

SPRINGFIELD — Taxpayers planning to request an automatic extension of time for filing their 1940 return are reminded by Jay G. Philpott, Internal Revenue Service district director for central and southern Illinois, that these requests are due no later than April 17 and must be accompanied by the full balance due.
"Taxpayers requesting an automatic extension of time must do so by filing a Form 4868 with the Kansas City Service Center," Mr. Philpott said. "This request must be received no later than April 17 and must be accompanied by the full balance due. No requests received after April 17 will be granted."
In filling out the Form 4868, the taxpayer must make a tentative estimate of the tax for the year. The full balance due shown on the application must be attached to the Form 4868.
"The filing of a Form 4868 is a request for an automatic two-month extension of time in filing a Form 1040," Mr. Philpott added, "not a request for a delay in payment of individual income tax."
Form 4868 is available at any Internal Revenue Service office.

Underworld's Joey Gallo Slain

NEW YORK (AP) — Joey Gallo, a member of Brooklyn's Gallo Brothers gang, was shot to death early Friday in a restaurant in Little Italy in lower Manhattan.
Crazy Joe or Joey the Blond, as he was more familiarly known, was taken in a police car to Beekman Downtown Hospital where he was dead on arrival.
Police said Gallo was gunned down by an unknown man who escaped after the shooting. The incident happened about 5:30 a.m. in Umberto's Clam House at 129 Mulberry St.

RS ANSWERS

An adding machine performs accurately for anyone who uses it correctly. Each person may record a different column of figures. Answers will vary accordingly but each will be correct.

Life also registers what we give it... produces results correspondingly. Sometimes we are so harried and hurried with whirling activities we forget to include worship.

When we do clear our minds for understanding and prayer with God, good results follow.

The Church has accurate answers for modern problems. Let it help you find correct solutions.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Epilepsy Is Just Another Disease

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have had seizures since I was 11 or 12 years old, and I am now 32 and have them occasionally, but only at night after a nervous, exhausting day. My parents call them fainting spells and will not discuss the problem. My question is my husband feels I should tell our 15-year-old daughter that her children will probably have epilepsy. Can the type of seizure I have be inherited?

Dear Reader—There is no yes or no answer to your question.

Unless your husband also has epilepsy, however, there isn't a real high probability that either your daughter or her children will have the problem. Actually only three to five percent of the relatives of individuals with epilepsy also have the same problem. I am more concerned about your parents' attitude toward the problem and what it may have done to you.

Epilepsy is just another illness and a fairly frequent one at that. You certainly should be under medical supervision if you are not and a person with as infrequent episodes as your letter indicates is usually easily controlled with medicine.

It is always disconcerting to see someone attach a stigma to a medical illness. Some of the most important figures in world history have also had epilepsy, which was why Julius Caesar had the "falling sickness," and Alexander the Great is also reported by some authorities to have been an epileptic. The world would have been quite a different place without either of them.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 77 and have high blood pressure with poor circulation. I am taking medicine from the doctor plus fluid pills for swelling in my legs and I can't sleep at night. A friend of mine told me wine was good for the circulation. Would you advise this?

Dear Reader—Unless you have liver damage, stomach ulcers, or other medical problems that cause you difficulties, there is no reason that you couldn't take a little bit of wine at night. Some people find this very useful in helping them sleep.

To the extent that the alcohol in the wine acts as a sedative and relaxes a person's nerves and helps them sleep, it is probably beneficial. It doesn't, unfortunately, do anything else that is particularly good for the circulation. In truth the person who uses too much alcohol in any form can even damage the heart muscle, but this occurs only in individuals who take considerably more than a glass of wine with their meals or at bedtime. You could use any of the wines that you find in your local supermarkets or liquor stores. Most of the table wines and the dessert wines are approximately 19 percent alcohol by volume.

Camera Angles

By IRVING DESFOR

AP Newsfeatures

Recently I wrote about photography's role as a means of communication and understanding in the present thaw in relations between the United States and Red China. President Nixon's trip to Peking was evidence of our country's desire to prevent the hostility of the past 20 years from hardening into an indissoluble barrier that would prevent discussions and negotiations between the two major powers.

Mainland China has remained a land of mystery because few Westerners were able to travel there. If more Americans are being enlightened about the Chinese people and their way of existence in the past and under the present Maoist regime, it's because those few travelers brought cameras and focused on life behind the Bamboo Curtain.

At this time it is significant that the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, one of the country's most prestigious institutions, has extended the run of its current photographic exhibition, "Behind the Great Wall," to mid-May. The response of visitors, exceeding 2,000 daily and more than double that on weekends, resulted in a month's extension after which it will be circulated world-wide by the International Fund for Concerned Photography for continued global exposure.

"Behind the Great Wall" was proposed and coordinated by "guest director" Cornell Capa, head of the I.F.C.P., a famed photographer in his own right and an increasingly important photographic impresario. The exhibit displays more than 200 photos of China from 1870 through 1971, featuring observations of eight perceptive China visitors. Early China was photographed in 1870 by John Thomson, an Englishman. "To convey an accurate impression of the country," he wrote, "I made the camera the constant companion of my wanderings, and to it I am indebted for the faithful reproduction of the scenes I visited." It was often a dangerous task, he added, because to some Chinese he was a "foreign devil" and the camera was a mysterious instrument which might rob their souls. His adventures were published in 1873, "Illustrations of China and its People," one of the first books illustrated with exact facsimiles of photographs made by the recently invented colotype process.

In the 1930s and 1940s, an adventurous breed of 'gung-ho' China hands documented some of the birth pangs of the emerging new Communist China: journalist Edgar Snow; Nym Wales, his first wife; U.S. military observer Evans F. Carlson and famed photojournalist Robert Capa. Their documentary photos have historical as well as visual value.

The People's Republic of China, born in 1949, is seen through the keen camera eyes of three European photojournalists: Henri Cartier-Bresson, Marc Riboud and Rene Burri, each of whom made several visits to China since then.

Some years ago, Cartier-Bresson explained a point which undoubtedly occurs to many Americans. "I have frequently felt that unspoken desire of people to see a statement of approval or disapproval when they look at my photographs of Communist China," he wrote. "The new China is composed of many fascinating ingredients. As a wandering photographer, I had the opportunity to savor a great many of them through the lens of my camera. I present them to you not as political commentary but as visual observation of a nation of over half-a-billion people—one-fourth of the world's population—who are in full evolution, with all the resulting upheavals. Since one can neither reverse this direction nor place China outside the walls of the world, it is perhaps preferable to understand the facts of its existence."

Summing up the exhibition, Cornell Capa said, "Photography demonstrates in the Metropolitan Museum of Art that it is the one medium which has educational, historic, social and aesthetic significance. No other art-communication medium exists which has such impact, and which informs as well as delights the eye."

QUINCY MAN SLIGHTLY INJURED IN BROWN COUNTY

MT. STERLING — Ralph Fletcher Davis of Quincy, was slightly injured Tuesday morning, around 4:30 a.m. on a county gravel road, 6 miles south of Timewell, when the car he was driving went out of control on a curve.

He was treated in Culbertson hospital at Rushville, and released. Another passenger was not injured. Mr. Davis was cited for driving too fast for conditions.

Betty Canary Think Young? Well, Think Again

I bought two magazines at the newsstand this morning. For my $1.75 investment, I expected answers to the questions they posed.

"Want to have eternal youth?" asked one.

"Beat the aging rap!" another shouted.

"Well, maybe..." I said.

But, instead of answers, the first article gave me a reworded version of an old health and science article. It included a series of exercises for a trim tummy plus a warning about frowning too often. ("Encourages those ugly around the mouth" were the exact words.) And, there was the usual admonition about not staying in the sun for too long unless you want your face to look like an old infantry boot.

The second magazine offered a kind of expose on old hippie types and suggested I beat the aging process by keeping my ability to "think young."

Now, I am not so certain that I know how to "think young."

I would like to suppose that having the ability to greet each day with the wonder and delight of a child might be called thinking young. If so, then I would hope we'd retain that ability.

If "think young" means approaching a situation with an open mind, being receptive to new ideas, refusing to allow ourselves too many preconceived notions, then I would hope all of us would constantly "think young."

Too often we hear people talk about youth as if it is some sort of reward. As if it is a prize one receives. As if it is something we can attain.

Actually, youth, in the dictionary sense, is simply something we have, something we're more or less stuck with for a certain period. Then, if we live long enough, we'll outgrow it.

"Think young" too often translates as an expression for those who eternally clutch at the past. I'm glad I've reached the point in life when I can "think older."

Cooking Is Fun Subtle Seasoning Enhances Meat

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

AP Food Editor

FAMILY DINNER

Lemon-broiled Flank Steak

Potatoes Broccoli

Salad Bowl Bread Tray

Baked Custard Beverage

LEMON-BROILED FLANK STEAK

Subtle seasoning enhances the meat.

1 1/2 pound flank steak

1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind

1/4 cup lemon juice

3 tablespoons salad oil

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon pepper

1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Trim any excess fat and membrane from steak. Score steak; make very shallow cuts, 1 inch apart, across surface on both sides in a diamond pattern. In a shallow dish (large enough to hold steak), with a fork, beat together the remaining ingredients. Turn over steak in marinade; allow to stand at room temperature for 2 hours, turning several times. Remove steak and drain well. Broil close to high heat for about 5 minutes on each side; brush several times with marinade. Makes 4 servings. To carve, slice diagonally across the grain in very thin slices; steak should be rare.

The Professor won the heart lead with his king and proceeded to lay down the ace of spades. Then he led the ten of clubs and let it ride.

East won with the king. He thought for a while before leading another heart. This play turned out to be a mild mistake because the Professor proceeded to discard all his three diamonds and make an overtrick.

Of course, West trumped the last club but he had to trump it with the king.

"Golly," said the student. "How did you know not to take the trump finesse?"

"I didn't know anything at all about it. As a matter of fact, I thought that my failure to take it was going to cost me some tricks. The odds certainly favored East having the king of spades as part of his opening bid. However, I put temptation aside and played to make my contract. Give East the king of spades and there was no way I could be set.

"Now look at the actual layout. If I had finessed the spade, West would win and led a diamond to give the defense four tricks."

"Of course!" said the student. "One more question. Why did you win the first trick in your own hand?"

"To avoid temptation," replied the Professor. "I like to finesse and wanted to be in my own hand so I couldn't."

YOUTH GROUP TO COLLECT SOUP FOR CHURCH HOME

The high school youth group of the First Christian church will sponsor a canned soup scavenger hunt Sunday, April 9, beginning at 2 p.m. Members of the group will ride their bikes around the South Jacksonville area, knocking on doors, to collect cans of soup for the Illini Children's Christian Home at St. Joseph, Ill.

The Home, sponsored by the Christian churches and interested individuals, houses 34 youths.

The group plans to take the food to the Home in May and sponsor a picnic for the residents.

Adults in charge of the project are Mr. and Mrs. James Deck, Mrs. Lora West, the Rev. and Mrs. Fred Flah, Clyde Stocker and Mr. and Mrs. Merral Franklin.

Editor's Note—Boundaries for the six election precincts in School District 117 are new this year. The elimination of Woodson as a polling place and addition of Eisenhower school as a polling place resulted in redistricting of all precincts so that a more equal number of electors reside in each portion of the district. Saturday, April 8, is the first election to be held using the new precinct boundaries. This precinct map is reproduced as a public service for voters in District 117 by the Journal and Courier.

Precinct 1—Lincoln Elementary School

All of that part of the district NORTH of the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

Precinct 2—Washington Elementary School

All that part of the district within the corporate limits of the City of Jacksonville and west of the center line of Main Street, SOUTH of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, and EAST of the center line of Westgate Avenue.

Precinct 3—Franklin Elementary School

All that part of the district within the corporate limits of the City of Jacksonville which is EAST of Main Street, and SOUTH of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, and that part of the district outside the corporate limits of the City of Jacksonville, SOUTH of the Norfolk and Western Railroad and NORTH (or northeast) of the Burlington and Northern Railroad (Also known as the CB & Q Railroad).

Precinct 4—South Jacksonville Elementary School

All that part of the district within the corporate limits of the Village of South Jacksonville, and all of that part of the district outside the corporate limits of the City of Jacksonville and the Village of South Jacksonville, SOUTH (or southwest) of the Burlington and Northern Railroad (Also known as the CB & Q Railroad) SOUTH (or southwest) of U.S. Highway 36-54, and NORTH of the south line of Township 14 North.

Precinct 5—Murrayville Elementary School

All that part of the district SOUTH of the center line of Township 14 North.

Precinct 6—Eisenhower Elementary School

All that part of the district within the corporate limits of the City of Jacksonville WEST of the center line of Westgate Avenue, and all that part of the district WEST of the corporate limits of the City of Jacksonville, SOUTH of the Norfolk and Western Railroad and NORTH of U.S. Highway 36-54.

Reduced Rates To Ineligible Groups Is Costing Postal Service Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service is losing millions of dollars each year by allowing ineligible groups to mail at reduced rates authorized for nonprofit organizations, says the General Accounting Office.

The GAO, the investigating arm of Congress, said that in fiscal 1970 the costs of nonprofit mail exceeded revenues by $53 million. It said the Postal Service "has not collected substantial revenues to which it is entitled."

An official GAO report said a check of five post offices disclosed 115 organizations, whose eligibility seemed questionable. It said these groups mailed 71.6 million pieces of mail in that period and were undercharged at least $1.5 million.

"In view of the estimated 6.1 billion pieces of second- and third-class mail handled annually nationwide, and in view of the lack of adequate criteria for determining an organization's eligibility for reduced postage rates, GAO believes that the amount of lost revenue could be significant nationwide," the report said.

Despite Postal Service promises, the report said, last month 27 organizations which GAO had questioned were still authorized to mail at reduced rates at one postal-services center. At another, the privilege had been cancelled for 24 of the organizations.

In language far stronger than is usual for such reports, the GAO said the Postal Service should act now to review its list of nonprofit groups and revoke the reduced-rate privileges of those not entitled to them.

The GAO cited the case of one unnamed educational institution—actually a non-eligible business league—which was denied nonprofit status in 1952, granted it in 1955, and in 1966 had it revoked and then reinstated.

Since July of 1966, the GAO said, this organization has been allowed to mail 18.1 million pieces at reduced third-class rates.

"The postage collected at the reduced third-class rates amounted to about $261,000," the GAO said. "Postage at the regular third-class rates would have been $660,000—a difference of $399,000."

The GAO investigation included probes at postal-service centers in Chicago, New York, Indianapolis and St. Louis, and at a post office listed by GAO only as Bloomington.

It said the 115 groups found to be ineligible among 1,135 nonprofit organizations checked included 84 business leagues, 21 civic-improvement associations, and 10 social clubs.

Private School Closings Hurt Public System

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A University of Michigan study of public schools in Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee and Philadelphia shows them caught in a financial bind as non-public schools are closing at an increasing rate.

The research team, reporting to the President's Commission on School Finance, said the higher enrollments and financial burden could be absorbed if the non-public schools closed at a steady or predictable rate. They aren't, however, they said.

If the non-public schools in these cities were all to close, the report said, it would cost an additional $464 million in Chicago, $174.5 million in Detroit, $48 million in Milwaukee and $600 million in Philadelphia to handle the extra student load. Of the four, Philadelphia has the largest percentage of students in non-public schools, it added.

The report, directed by U-M's Dean Wilbur Cohen, was incorporated in the presidential commission's own findings. Since any direct allocation of state or federal funds to non-public, especially church-related, schools would be unconstitutional the burden must be borne by the city, the presidential commission said.

"The large cities have already neglected the educational needs of their children," said U-M's Dr. Ray Kehoe, the study's associate director. "Given the problems which exist already, we are very pessimistic about the capacity of these school systems to meet future challenges."

Cohen said the study shows the need for eliminating the local residential property tax as a basis for school financing.

VA TRAINS WORKERS
DALLAS (AP) — As part of its clinical affiliation with eight North Texas universities and colleges, the Dallas Veterans Administration trained more than 451 health workers during the 1971 fiscal year, says E. P. Whitaker, hospital director.

Included in the total were resident physicians and interns who received all or part of their post graduate education in the VA hospital, Whitaker explained.

Jobs

Democratic presidential nominee against Nixon, said the small increase in hourly pay supports his argument that Nixon's controls are holding down workers' wages while prices and profits continue to climb.

"The American people need jobs and an end to inflation, rather than promises and optimistic statements," Meany said in a statement.

Earlier, in a speech to the National Press Club, Meany said unemployment has doubled under Nixon's administration and inflation has increased from an annual rate of 4.7 percent when Nixon took office to 4.9 percent now.

"I don't think we should despair," Meany said with tongue in cheek. "Any night now we may get a new announcement of a new bag of tricks. It may even displace Laugh-In. But the nation's economic and social problems are no laughing matter."

The Labor Department said the 620,000 rise in jobs was the largest monthly gain in nearly five years and that the increases took place in service industries and manufacturing.

"They show that the manufacturers and other job sources in this country are expanding their need for workers and indeed employment increased substantially," Ziegler said at the Florida White House where Nixon was spending the weekend.

"As long as employment shows a strong rise, the unemployment statistic is going to have to show a continuing decline over the coming months. If the strength in employment continues, and we have every indication that it will, the statistics are encouraging," he added.

The drop in food prices offset a rise of three-tenths of one percent for industrial commodities including metals, cattle hides, lumber, paper products, gasoline, machinery, cotton and synthetic textiles. Chemicals, furniture, rubber and plastic products and household appliances declined in price, the report said.

"The rise in both unemployment and the Wholesale Price Index reveal the continuing economic mess confronting the American people," Meany said.

But, he added, the continuing divisive primary election battles among Democratic presidential contenders appear at the moment to make Nixon a favorite for re-election.

"If I were forced to make a bet now, I'd bet Nixon will win," Meany said. But he added that a lot could happen before the November election.

Willie Hampton Ends Sixteen Years On Run

CHICAGO (AP) — Willie Hampton, 63, who escaped from an Alabama prison in 1955, was freed of escape charges Friday after prison officials from that state failed to appear in court in Chicago seeking his return to prison.

Judge John F. Hechinger of Circuit Court set Hampton free after Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace failed to file a warrant requesting Hampton's return to the state.

Hampton had been serving a 70-year prison sentence when he escaped from the Montgomery, Ala., institution. He began serving the sentence in 1938.

He had been convicted of a series of burglaries. He has been living in Chicago, working as a construction laborer until his retirement two years ago.

Hampton was stopped for a traffic violation in October 1971 and a check showed he had escaped from the Alabama prison.

Goldfish Eating Record Set By DePaul Student

CHICAGO (AP)—A 22-year-old DePaul University graduate student stuffed himself to the gills Friday, setting what he claimed was a world's record for swallowing live goldfish.

And as Bob Gries downed goldfish No. 601, two coeds were busy setting what they said was the world's women's goldfish swallowing record at 155 each.

Gries, a graduate in mathematics, and Reggi Nowak, 18, a freshman, and Linda Levi, 20, a sophomore, claimed the records during the school's annual spring festival.

The Guinness Book of World Records lists the goldfish swallowing record at 210, set in 1969 by 19-year-old Charles Winfield of San Antonio, Tex. But, said a DePaul student, the book failed to record Gries' previous record of 265 set in 1970.

There was no listing for the women's world record but Miss Nowak and Miss Levi contended the old mark was 58, set several years ago at DePaul.

What did Gries, described by friends as "the type of guy who will eat or drink anything" do after it was all over?

He went out to get something to eat.

Derailed Train Said To Have Been Speeding

CHICAGO (AP) — Passengers aboard an elevated train which derailed and injured 46 persons said Friday the rapid transit train was going too fast. Two of the four cars of the train fell off the overhead structure.

Chicago Transit Authority officials said they had not determined the cause of the derailment, which sent one car plunging 30 feet to the ground and left another dangling over the tracks at 40th street and Wabash avenue Thursday night.

CTA officials said they had not spoken with the trains' motorman, Frank Phillips Jr., 29, one of those injured.

Officials said the recommended speed at the spot where the derailment occurred was 15 miles an hour.

Eleven persons injured in the accident remained in hospitals, a CTA spokesman said.

Willie Hudson, 23, a passenger, said, "I ride the trains an awful lot and can tell when they're going too fast. And this time they were."

Another passenger, Charles Spraggins, 27, said the train was moving "faster than usual."

CTA officials said the tracks were cleared for the rush hour Friday but schedules "were far from normal."

Damage estimates were not available but the replacement cost of a CTA car is between $125,000 and $150,000.

The lead car of the south-bound train pitched over the elevated tracks and landed in a vacant lot. The car narrowly missed a two-story apartment building.

The accident occurred during a blinding rainstorm.

ANTICIPATE CRIME

DALLAS (AP) — Martha McGee spends her time plotting crime for the Dallas Police Department.

She's one of a team of three on the criminal analysis staff. Their job: to pick the trends in area robberies and help the police be at the right spot ahead of time.

In an office whose walls are covered with maps dotted with markers showing robbery sites, Martha tries to chart the movement of auto thieves and bandits. The others on the team, a plainclothes officer and a woman, keep up with business and residential burglaries.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP) — Can a good idea born into a hostile or indifferent society succeed? Since environments change, the rejected ideas of yesterday often are welcomed today. Any fashion designer or marketing man can attest to it.

To illustrate, in the late 1950s Ford Motor Co. sought to interest the public in safety, but by most measures the attempt failed.

Now safety is "in." Every one of the big automakers is attempting to produce a safer car, although with considerable prompting from federal officials.

Another example: Early in the boom that followed World War II and which continues today people bought what they had long postponed buying. Included were foods and drinks that weren't available during the war and which they couldn't afford before it.

The results were measured on more than scales. Whereas malnutrition was a common health problem that turned up in insurance company files before the war, obesity replaced it after the war.

This was still before this battle of the bulge made millions of Americans so calorie and nutrition conscious. To put vitamin contents on packages would have been disdained as too medicinal; and the calories count as just malicious.

Now the Food and Drug Administration intends to see that just such information is included on packaged food labels, and quite likely the proposal will be welcomed in this calorie-conscious, vitamin-minded age.

The FDA chose five super-market chains to test various labels containing such information and soon found itself, in the words of a spokesman, "bombarded" with requests from other retailers to get in on the action.

There are reasons for the interest shown by the retailers. Shoppers are sharper today. They aren't as impressed by the beauty of the package as by the writing thereon. They suspect that the dazzle of the marketing effort is meant to blind the buyer.

And so, even men who never examined the package except to read stories of sports heroes on the back of the cereal box when they were youths now hold the package close to their girth and squint down through their spectacles at the fine print.

Another old idea has blown around on cold, barren ground for many years—certainly for a century. It was restated this week by Carl Kamp Jr., a Federal Home Loan Board member, in a St. Louis speech.

"The area of property taxes has come into the spotlight lately," he said. "It might be worthwhile to consider looking at land and its taxation in a more practical and realistic way."

"For instance, isn't it counterproductive to levy higher taxes on improved property? Doesn't such a tax policy discourage rehabilitation of deteriorating properties? Why should a landlord keep his properties looking good and make necessary repairs if his taxes will increase?"

"Possibly a more realistic approach would be a land value tax which taxes the land and not the structure. Such a tax might well encourage improvements on many existing structures... in most metropolitan areas."

The same suggestion has been ignored for decades while cities blithely tax the citizen who erects a building and, in effect, rewards with low taxes the fellow who leaves his lot empty so as to park cars drawn by the building.

Tax restructuring now receives an audience, but for years it didn't. It took the crumble of core cities to provide the rich mulch for the seed.

Raise Your Voice On 'Negative Option'

If you've ever been harassed by "negative option" mail order sales, and want to raise your voice (by mail) at a hearing on its regulation, you have until April 10.

The "negative option" technique has proved so successful for the sellers—that it has spread to every corner of the mail-order business. It's used to merchandise such things as books, records, flowers, fruit—anything that can be sent periodically to members of a "club."

When you join one of these something-of-the-month clubs, read the description of the terms carefully or you may not realize what you're signing up for. What "negative option" means is that you'll get a notice joyfully announcing, for instance, that the club's April selection is yak-milk cheese in rhubarb sauce, and the club is going to ship a 10-pound crock to you within a few days.

You don't want it? Then you must exercise a "negative option"—within 10 days, typically. That is, you must return a form saying, "No, do NOT send me this month's selection." Failing that, you will shortly receive the yak cheese, and every month's selection thereafter, in unending succession, unless you "negative option" each and every one.

If you're out of town for 10 days and fail to mail the form back—too bad, you've bought a crock of yak cheese, or whatever it was you didn't want, and, of course, what happens in case the notice is delayed in the mails for a couple of weeks? Right—you get yak cheese.

Almost a year ago, the Federal Trade Commission proposed to ban this sales technique, as deceptive and unfair. The various clubs operating a multimillion-dollar business, mounted a vigorous and well-financed assault on the proposal. Almost no one showed up to speak for the consumer. Consequently, the regulations now proposed are little more than a description of the way "negative option" selling works.

They stipulate that the terms of the plan must be "conspicuously" disclosed in promotional material. Subscribers must have at least 10 days in which to refuse a selection. Subscribers must be allowed to cancel their "memberships" once they've bought the required minimum amount of merchandise (and this hasn't always been easy).

And so on—elementary ethical-business practices, which only mean that the "clubs" shouldn't take UNDOE advantage of the consumer. In short, negative option selling is being legitimized.

The first time around, the consumer failed to make his voice heard—whether through apathy, failure to publicize last year's hearings or whatever. There's one more chance. If you fail to write, and one of these days you become the owner of some yak cheese you didn't want, be it on your head.

Address "views and arguments" to: Assistant Director, Division of Rules and Guides, Bureau of Consumer Protection, Federal Trade Commission, Pennsylvania Avenue and Sixth Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20580—before April 10.

SOYBEAN FUTURES DISPLAY STRENGTH

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures displayed some strength briefly on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday then succumbed to liquidating pressure and eased 2 cents.

Wheat prices advanced 1 1/4 cents and corn was up 1/2 cent, but oats prices were weak. Soybean meal was down some 50 cents a ton and soybean oil eased 5 points.

Iced broilers were up around 30 points under good commercial and local professional support.

The selling in the soybean complex was not entirely unexpected. Soybeans have advanced some 10 cents a bushel since last Thursday, when the exchange closed for the Easter holiday. Some profit-taking was in order.

It appeared, however, that a continuing factor in the strength of prices in the complex was the trip of Agriculture Secretary Butz to Russia this weekend.

The weather over wide sections of the country was a factor in the buying of corn and wheat futures. Movement of these commodities was hampered, to a degree. Some sections of the Southwest also were reporting problems with aridity.

After about an hour, soybeans were 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel lower, May 3.52 1/2; wheat was 3/4 to 1 1/2 higher, May 1.50 1/4; corn was unchanged to 1/4 higher, May 1.25 and oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, May 70 1/2 cents.

MAMMOTH MANIPULATION

DUESSELDORF, Germany (UPI) — Damag Hydraulic GMBH has announced plans to build a 150 thousand-ton forge manipulator for National Forge of Erie, Ohio.

The giant machine, which will be the second largest manipulator built by Damag, will have an operating pressure of 2,430 pounds per square inch, will be able to handle work up to 75 inches in diameter and move it at the rate of 115 feet a minute, a company statement said.

It said the manipulator will have an overall length of 44 1/2 feet and will take approximately one year to build.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday extended its winning streak but not without a struggle.

Profit taking, which had surfaced late Thursday, carried over into the morning session. But prices strengthened gradually as selling pressure subsided. Analysts said the market's action was largely in response to technical factors rather than news developments.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had been off 5 points earlier, finished up 3 1/2 at 962.60. And advances on the New York Stock Exchange, which had trailed declines most of the session, were narrowly ahead at the close.

Big Board volume totaled 19.9 million shares compared with 22.83 million Thursday. On the American Stock Exchange, volume rose to 7.15 million shares from 6.48 million Thursday.

Friday's advance was the sixth straight gain for the market. The advance picked steam Wednesday, when the Dow industrial average gained some 11 points. The next session the blue-chip indicator rose nearly 5 points to its highest closing level in nearly three years.

The most-active Big Board issue was Consolidated Foods, up 1 at 40 on a volume of 355,500 shares.

Of the 1,775 issues traded on the Big Board, 767 advanced, and 685 declined. New yearly highs were reached by 148 issues and lows by 88.

Of the 1,229 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 487 advanced, and 497 declined.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks rose 0.15 to 61.08. The American Stock Exchange index climbed .07 to 28.31.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.5 to 344.5, a 1972 high. Industrials rose 2.0, rails rose 1.0, and utilities rose 0.6.

Chemicals and steels were the only gainers. Farm implements were lower. All other groups were mixed.

The number of blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board dropped to 142 from a revised total of 198 Thursday.

The largest block was 297,500 shares of Consolidated Foods, which traded at 40, up 1.

AMERICANS WELCOME

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Premier Peter Lougheed of Alberta, Canada, is telling American oil men that his province welcomes foreign capital and promises fair treatment of the oil industry.

The provincial premier also promised that oil men would get a chance to argue the pros and cons before any more environmental controls were imposed.

On product prices, Lougheed said: "In renegotiating new royalty rates this spring, everyone will have a chance to state his case and the basis of any new rate will be a fair return to all parties involved."

WOMEN WILL BE DRAFTED IF RIGHTS BILL IS RATIFIED

COUPEVILLE, Wash. (AP) — The national director of the Selective Service System said women definitely will be drafted if the equal rights amendment to the Constitution is ratified.

Curtis Tarr, 47, said there is "no question about it," but added, he does not think drafting women is a good idea.

"You can't put women in tough, combat jobs," he said. "There are so many things they can't do physically. Tell one to take a mortar casing over the hill and, by thunder, she can't even get it over a log."

Set Scott, Mansfield China Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., will visit China for three weeks beginning April 18, Mansfield said Friday.

The statement said: "The joint leadership announced today that they have accepted an invitation from the People's Republic of China to visit that country."

"They stated they would leave Washington April 16. It is anticipated that they will spend about three weeks in the People's Republic, visiting various cities, meeting with government officials, and visiting schools, hospitals, collective farms, industrial plants, and other points of interest."

"Our purpose will be to look, listen and learn and hopefully to achieve a better understanding between our two countries. It will be our intention to make a report to the (Senate) Foreign Relations Committee upon our return."

Set Scott, Mansfield China Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., will visit China for three weeks beginning April 18, Mansfield said Friday.

The statement said: "The joint leadership announced today that they have accepted an invitation from the People's Republic of China to visit that country."

"They stated they would leave Washington April 16. It is anticipated that they will spend about three weeks in the People's Republic, visiting various cities, meeting with government officials, and visiting schools, hospitals, collective farms, industrial plants, and other points of interest."

"Our purpose will be to look, listen and learn and hopefully to achieve a better understanding between our two countries. It will be our intention to make a report to the (Senate) Foreign Relations Committee upon our return."

History Will Show War No Mistake: Agnew

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told the 101st Airborne Division returning from Southeast Asia Thursday that he was confident history will show the Vietnam War was "no mistake."

A La Mode

The show goes on, with Adele Simpson, right, introducing her collection.

Cameras flash, long-legged models whirl by in elegant clothes. The editors of Vogue and Harper's Bazaar are there, the buyers of the most prestigious stores are jotting down style numbers. Adele Simpson is presenting a collection in her New York showroom and on the surface all is as smooth and cool as peau de soie.

But behind the scenes the atmosphere is tense, with nerves stretched in a last minute scramble, at this moment of the public unveiling of a collection into which a skilled team has poured months of effort and dreams. Mrs. Simpson and her staff are constantly juggling work on the year's four collections, sometimes beginning work on an idea a year before it gets through the successive stages of a sketch, then a pattern, a sample, a duplicate and finally a garment hanging in perhaps 500 stores.

Adele Simpson has been measuring up to the pressures of fashion for over 40 years. She began by pinning on buttons at 17 and now heads her own business producing about 90,000 garments a year. A grandmother in her late 50s, Mrs. Simpson still keeps up the pace. And the collection is always there on time.

Photographs by Jim Wells.

Adele Simpson, left, is the dynamic force behind the collection into which go the contributions of many hands.

The elegance unveiled to the public, above, is the result of months of work by a skilled team.

Brazilians Pay $5 To Mingle With Lions In Natural Habitat

By DAVID VIDAL
Associated Press Writer
SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The king of the African jungle is footloose in Brazil, entertaining hundreds who pay $5 to mingle with His Majesty in a natural habitat.

Cars lined up for miles on a recent opening Sunday to get a chance to drive through 120,000 square yards of open forest housing 23 free-roaming lions.

The "Simba Safari," lion park, first on this continent, was an instant hit in Latin America's largest city.

The lions are confined only by two 20-foot-high wire fences which encircle the park, but otherwise are free to walk along the 1.8 miles of paved road used by the visitors, or to simply lie in the forest.

"I visited many parks throughout the world," said Francisco "Chico" Galvao, originator of the $180,000 project here.

"This is the eighth. And from what I could gather, ours is the prettiest both in terms of vegetation and geography. The park in the United States is situated in a desert. In the others vegetation is scarce, relying mostly on eucalyptus trees. And there's another thing: This park is the first one in which the lions are put together. In the others they are kept apart."

Galvao and three other Brazilian outdoorsmen and hunters brought the lions to their new home on a 3,400-foot inland plateau on the Tropic of Capricorn. Eventually, 50 lions will occupy the park situated on land purchased from the nearby Sao Paulo Zoo. Most will have been brought from other zoos in Africa or Latin America.

Visitors to the park must ride in cars. They pay the equivalent of just under $1 per person to see the lions from one of the park's zebra-striped Jeeps or almost $5 to ride through in their own cars. There is no limit on how many persons may be inside.

Car windows must be closed at all times, although the lions appear generally tame and have been trained to become accustomed to cars. Hornblowing is prohibited.

All along the road, park security rangers remain on alert, armed with rifles that shoot anaesthetic pellets in the case of attacks. The pellets can put an attacking lion to sleep without hurting him.

In spite of the obvious need for safety precautions, some visitors were somewhat let down upon learning a little-known fact: Lions cry.

Samson, Leonard and Simon, the first beasts set free in the park, cuddled up to the closed gates and began crying on their first night of freedom in Brazil.

The reason? "They got scared," Chico Galvao said, "They began to miss people."

Uses Half Shield On Sleeveless Dresses

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—Helen wrote about shields for the undershirts of sleeveless dresses. I want to tell her that I cut a piece of bonded knit the same color as the dress, in the shape of a half-shield, and sew it inside the bottom of the armhole. Tack it down on the seam to hold in place. All my sleeveless dresses stay real nice between cleaning and washing time.—HILDA

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Helen that as an alternative to dress shields, which I find annoying, I have had very good results using an aerosol product which, when sprayed on the inside of the garment, protects against stain and odor. This is used in addition to a personal deodorant. While it cannot remove a stain, it does quite a good job of neutralizing an odor that may be in a garment. Such a product can be bought in the notion departments of stores here in Peoria.—MRS. W.G.R.

DEAR POLLY—My five-year-old son has been a hospital patient many times and one of the best ways I have found to keep him happy without a lot of expense is the following: I cover a regular coat hanger with ribbon and then buy a lot of small inexpensive items at the dime store. These are wrapped in bright paper and tied to the hanger with ribbon. The toys cost very little so I can usually buy enough so he has one to enjoy after each meal. This gives him something to look forward to and the hanger is kept hanging where he can see it.—JANET

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—The tab end on the invisible zipper down the back of a double-knit dress came off. Can someone tell me how to fasten the tab without taking the zipper out and putting a new one in?—ANN

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the background music (noise) on television. This noise was very bad during the commentaries during the Miss America pageant last fall. Also, every so often when there is good singing on the air, the accompaniment is so loud it kills the effect of the singer. I know we, the consumers, must support Little Caesar's charity, but I think they should be quiet when there is something worthwhile to be heard. — MRS. C.A.N.

Hockey Playoffs Continue Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Coach King Clancy had it figured out Friday how to beat the Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League playoffs.

"Now if we can win three at home it's a different ball game," said Clancy as the Maple Leafs and Bruins prepared for the third game of the best-of-7 East Division semifinals in Toronto Saturday. The fourth game also will be played in Toronto Sunday before the series switches back to Boston.

Other Saturday and Sunday games have New York at Montreal in the East and Chicago at Pittsburgh and Minnesota at St. Louis in the West.

"We're confident now," said Clancy, who is filling in for the ailing John McLellan, after the surprising Leafs evened their series with Boston at 1-1 by coming back from a 2-0 deficit to win 4-3 in overtime Thursday night at Boston.

"I can't account for it," coach Tom Johnson said of the loss which was only the Bruins' fifth at home since the start of the season.

Montreal, the defending Stanley Cup champion, found themselves down 2-0 as they returned to the friendly Forum. The Canadiens also are faced with the knowledge that they beat the Rangers only once during the regular season and that was the final game which was meaningless.

Chicago goes into Pittsburgh with a 2-0 lead and its blood in a low boil. Dennis Hull and the Chicago club each were fined $500 by NHL President Clarence Campbell who ruled Hull's stick was curved to the point of being illegal.

Minnesota also takes a 2-0 lead in St. Louis which was built on a wild 6-5 overtime victory Thursday night.

Two Sprinters Run: 09.3 100 In Texas Relays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two sprinters ran the 100-yard dash in 9.3 seconds at the Texas Relays Friday, equaling former Olympic champion Bobby Morrow's 15-year-old record.

It is the second oldest Relays record.

The mark was tied by Cliff Branch of Colorado and Harold Porter of the University of Southwestern Louisiana in the preliminaries of the university-college division.

They will run against six others in the 100 finals Saturday afternoon. Branch, the Big Eight champion, is also the defending Relays champion. He won the event last year in 9.2 seconds, but there was too much wind for his time to be a record.

Branch and Porter ran in separate heats of the prelims Friday, and in both races, the wind was just over one mile per hour, well below the allowable.

Morrow set the record in 1957 when he was competing for Abilene Christian College after winning three gold medals in the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, Australia.

As a schoolboy at San Benti, Tex., High School in 1954, Morrow ran the 100 at the Texas Relays in 9.6, which tied the record set in 1944 by Charlie Parker of San Antonio Jefferson. That record in the oldest school division is the oldest relays record.

Guy Abrahams of New Mexico Junior College tied the Relays record in the 100 in that division with a 9.5. It was set last year by Willie Harrison of Odessa Junior College.

A major disappointment was the failure of Dave Roberts of Rice, last year's outstanding performer at the Relays, to qualify for the pole vault finals. Roberts set the Relays record in the pole vault of 17 feet in 1971 but he failed three times Friday to clear the qualifying height of 15-6.

Sixteen high jumpers qualified for the university-college division Saturday by clearing 6-foot-7 inches—the highest qualifying height in that event ever set up for a major track and field meet.

Jack Bachelor of the Florida Track Club won the only event Thursday night, running six miles in 27 minutes, 47.6 seconds for a Relays record. Billy Mills, formerly of Kansas, set the old mark of 28:53.3 in 1968.

Penguins Still Optimistic As Series Shifts

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Penguins returned home Friday and expressed optimism about their chances with the Chicago Black Hawks as the first round of National Hockey League semifinal playoff series continues here Saturday night.

The Black Hawks hold a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series after winning both games in Chicago.

"I think we played a couple of good games," said the Penguins' Bob Leiter, who scored two goals in the two games. "They haven't blown us out. Our guys aren't down. We'll be back and we know we can beat them."

"The home ice and the crowd will help," said Penguin Coach Red Kelly. "We were within one goal Thursday night and we could have come out a little better. They didn't run us out of the rink."

One of the more interesting confrontations at the Civic Arena should be the continuing battle between Pittsburgh's Eddie Shack and the Hawks' Keith Magnuson.

Shack was charged with a five-minute major in the first game after Magnuson suffered a 12-stitch cut on his forehead from Shack's stick.

In the second game, Chicago players spent a total of eight minutes in the penalty box as a result of altercations with Shack.

Magnuson once dropped his gloves and wanted to fight, but Shack turned away.

"Is that stupid?" he said of Magnuson's move. "He drops his gloves while I still have my stick in my hand. Has he ever won a fight? I've never seen him win one. Has he ever tied a fight?"

Nevertheless, the Black Hawks still have a two-game edge and are heavy favorites to win the series.

DERBY SHOOT SUNDAY

The Jacksonville Sportsman's Club will hold its second Derby Shoot of the year Sunday, April 9, at the club grounds.

Practice traps will open at 10:30, with the first derby to start at noon.

WALL HONORED: MacMurray College Athletic Director and basketball coach Bill Wall was honored at a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in Jacksonville Friday, for his many contributions to amateur athletics around the country in recent years. Wall's most recent position was as President of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. Wall received a plaque from the two clubs. Left are Rotary President Dr. Clifford C. Rone, Wall, Kiwanis President Dale Brown and Ray Hanson of the Western Illinois University Physical Education Department.

Nicklaus Retains Lead In Masters

Sneed Falls Back, Arnie Has Trouble

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus retained the lead despite a fat seven, Sam Snead drifted back in the pack and angry Arnold Palmer again encountered triple bogey disaster in the windy turbulence of the second round of the Masters Golf Tournament.

Nicklaus, the famed and feared Golden Bear seeking his fourth Masters title and an unprecedented one-year sweep of all the world's major titles, had to sink a dramatic, downhill birdie putt on the 16th hole to regain a one-stroke lead over Paul Harney at the midpoint of this 36th championship.

Nicklaus, who dropped back into a share of the lead when he took a watery seven on the 15th hole, finished with a 71 and 19, five under par for the tournament.

Harney, a 42-year-old club pro from Sutton, Mass., who got into this event only with a surprise victory at San Diego earlier this year, conquered the baffling winds with a 69 as he charged into position just one stroke back at 140. He had been in the clubhouse for about an hour when the blond and burly Nicklaus moved past him into sole control of the top spot.

The 59-year-old Sneed, a refugee from the ranks of another generation of golfing greats, was just one stroke off the pace going into the windy, cool and cloudy day, but could manage only a 75 and was five strokes off the pace at 144, matching par on the fickle, tricky Augusta National Golf Club course.

And Palmer, a 42-year-old giant now troubled by near-sightedness and with a history of bursitis, had all sorts of problems en route to a 75-145. "It's not one of my happier days," said Palmer, the only man to win this title four times. He got a controversial and unfavorable ruling on the ninth green. The rules committee didn't decide it until he was ready to tee off on the 12th—and when Palmer saw the bogey go up on the scoreboard he promptly took a triple bogey six—the second time in less than a week he has all but destroyed his hopes in that fashion.

Bert Yancey, a one-time West Pointer and now a tour regular who admits he has an obsession with this tournament, moved into third place with a 69-141.

Then it was Jim Jamieson, a husky young man from Moline, Ill., who is playing in his first Masters. Jamieson, who lost his exempt status on the pro tour last fall and has yet to win, took a 70-142.

Defending champion Charles Coody and big Bobby Nichols, like Harney now a club pro, were the only other players under par. They were tied at 143. Coody had a 70 and Nichols a 71.

Some of the other leading players had their difficulties in the gusty, shifting winds. South African Gary Player took a 75-148. Tony Jacklin of England struggled to a 76-148.

None, perhaps, had the troubles of Palmer, who hasn't won a major event since 1964 and was seeking a return to glory in this tournament.

He was one over par for the day when he went to the ninth. His second shot was to the back right of the green and came to

Local Teams Will Host Tournaments

Routt will host a District and Jacksonville High School will conduct a Regional in Illinois High School Association baseball tournament assignments announced Friday.

Other District meets involving area schools are scheduled for Beardstown, Havana, Palmyra, Northwestern, Petersburg, Portia and Pittsfield.

A total of 503 downstate and suburban schools are entered in the 32nd annual state tournament series. They will play in 112 Districts from which the winners will advance to 28 four-team Regionals. The Regional winners will play in seven four-team Sectionals and seven Sectional champions, together with the representative of the Chicago Public High Schools Athletic Association, will play for the state title at Bradley University in Peoria.

Tournament dates for Districts May 8-10, Regionals May 15-17 and Sectionals 22-24. The state finals are set for June 1-2.

First-round pairings in the Routt District have Winchester facing Routt, Jacksonville High taking on North Greene and Franklin going against the Winchester-Routt contest.

At Havana it will be Manito Forman vs Easton, Havana vs Lewistown and Bath Balyki taking on the Forman-Easton winner. At Beardstown the scheduled calls for Brown County vs Chandlerville and Beardstown vs Rushville.

At Northwestern it will be Plaza Southwestern vs Jerseyville, Hardin Calhoun vs Northwestern and Brussels going against the Southwestern - Jerseyville survivor.

The Porta District calls for Pleasant Plains facing Porta and New Berlin taking on Virginia. At Pittsfield it will be Pittsfield vs East Pike, Griggsville vs Perry and Bluffs vs the survivor of the Pittsfield-East Pike tilt.

The Jacksonville Regional has winners from Porta and Northwestern matched in the opener with the Routt champion vs the Pittsfield winner in the second game.

The Quincy High Regional calls for Mendon Unity's winner vs Carthage and Beardstown vs Plymouth. At Peoria Manual it will be Havana vs Canton and Bartonville vs Table Grove. The Springfield Southeast Regional will have Springfield Griffin vs Mt. Auburn and Mason City vs Taylorville.

The Springfield High Sectional will have Regional winners from Jacksonville, Springfield Southeast, Alton and Staunton. The Quincy winner advances to the Canton Sectional.

rest in an indentation made by a chair leg.

Palmer asked for relief, but was denied. He played a provisional ball, however, and got a par on that one. He made bogey on his own ball.

The result of the ruling didn't go on the board until he was on the tee on the 155-yard 12th. When it went up Palmer buried his tee shot in a bunker. He blasted across the green and almost down a bank. The next was across the green and into the same bunker again.

He got it out, then missed from two feet. He also three-putted the next one, missing from two feet, but got some of it back with an eagle three on the 15th.

The 32-year-old Nicklaus, the only man to win all four of the world's major titles two times, was breezing along with a two-stroke lead, until he came to the 15th, a 520-yard par five where he made an eagle in Thursday's round.

The big hitter got off a solid drive and said he "had 250 yards to the green. I thought the wind was in my face. I hit a three wood just like I wanted to, high into the wind so it would drop softly."

"The wind stopped."

"The ball hit about five feet behind the green and, zap, into the water."

He dropped out, chipped long—almost into the water on the other side of the green—pitched back long again and two-putted for a seven. That dropped him back to four under par and a tie with Harney, who was in the clubhouse at the moment saying:

"I could do very well."

Nicklaus flashed a rueful grin, then shrugged his shoulders as he walked off the green.

Roche, Baum Guide New York Past Kentucky

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) —

The New York Nets, playing without scoring star Rick Barry, got a 38-point performance from John Roche and 25 from Barry's replacement, John Baum, to beat the Kentucky Colonels 100-92 Friday night and take a commanding 3-1 lead in their American Basketball Association playoff series.

The best-of-seven East Division semifinal returns to Louisville—where the Nets beat the Colonels, winningest team in the ABA's regular season, in the first two games—for Saturday afternoon's nationally televised fourth contest. A victory in that game will send New York into the division finals against Virginia.

Roche led the fourth-quarter charge that powered the Nets past Kentucky before a record 14,896 fans at the Nassau Coliseum.

He scored 15 of his game-high points in the final eight minutes of play, including the free throw with two minutes remaining that put New York ahead to stay at 93-92. The 6-foot-3 rookie then drilled in the second of his two three-point baskets to give the Nets a four-point cushion.

With Barry sidelined by a strep throat, it appeared the Nets would have trouble keeping up with the high-scoring Colonels. Barry had averaged 41 points in the first three games.

But Baum, a 6-5 third-year pro picked up in midseason by New York, kept them in the game, scoring 15 of his points in the third quarter when Kentucky repeatedly threatened to pull away.

Owners Nix Latest Players' Proposal

Plan To File Unfair Labor Charges

NEW YORK (AP) —

Baseball's owners rejected Friday night a new proposal by the players to end their week-long strike. The players then announced plans to file unfair labor practice charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

The announcement of the filing of the charges against the 24 major league club owners was made by Dick Moss, counsel for the Major League Players' Association, who charged at least three players have lost their jobs because of their activity in the players' group.

Moss' statement did not name the players and he declined to reveal who they were. However, The Associated Press learned that one of the three was pitcher Joe Horlen of the Chicago White Sox.

The new proposal to end the strike was made by Marvin Miller, executive director of the players' association, to John Gaherin, the owners' negotiator, in sessions that ended Friday afternoon.

Gaherin then reported back to Miller that the owners had turned the offer down.

In their offer, the players agreed to begin playing while negotiations continued for two or three weeks. But the proposal also contained a provision that if those negotiations did not lead to a solution, the matter be submitted to binding arbitration.

The owners have been against submitting the dispute over pension benefits to binding arbitration and it is that aspect of the latest proposal by the players that apparently caused the owners to reject the offer.

Gaherin released a statement saying: "Particularly offensive to the Player Relations Committee is the proposal to submit this dispute to arbitration."

"We believe that there is a solution that is available. We now propose the players return to the ball parks ready to play as soon as possible so that the fans are no longer denied the pleasure of watching them perform and that, in the meantime, the parties—with the assistance of such experts as may be necessary—continue to negotiate on good faith..."

In his statement announcing the filing of the unfair labor practices charge, Moss said he has "never observed a management which so openly and blatantly violated the law and abandoned ethical conduct. It is almost as though they consider themselves not covered by any rules of this society."

Moss singled out the owners' "refusal to bargain in good faith on the subject of the benefit plan" and their violation of the law "by taking an inflexible stand and by insisting that the players and their representatives meet with agents of the owners who are admittedly without power or authority to bargain on their behalf."

The owners have made a farce of negotiations, he said, "by adopting a course of conduct which is not only unethical and illegal but is calculated to insure a failure to reach an appropriate settlement."

Moss' statement went on to contend that "before and during the current strike the owners have threatened players and attempted to coerce them to abandon their organization... and, in at least three instances, have terminated the employment of players because of their activities in the association."

Meanwhile, John Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox, rebelled against orders from American League President Joe Cronin. Revealing a March 31 directive to major league clubs to ban striking players from using major league facilities to work out, Allyn said:

"If they want to enforce that ruling they're going to have to find a way, because they are going to have a long, hard fight."

Allyn also joined Bob Short, the owner of the Texas Rangers, and Calvin Griffith, president of the Minnesota Twins, in calling for Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to intervene to get the season started.

Kuhn's office said the commissioner had "no comment" to make about the calls for intervention on his part.

The White Sox were the only team permitting their players to work out on their home field. The crosstown Chicago Cubs had given their players permission to do the same, but Vice President John Holland changed his mind after receiving a telegram from National League President Charles F. Rea.

The players' association has offered before to submit the dispute to binding arbitration with Miller saying:

"We're willing to have any prominent person—any prominent person who is neither associated with the clubs or players—arbitrate the agreement."

The revelation of the new proposal seemed to cause some confusion among the players. In Los Angeles, veteran shortstop Maury Wills of the Dodgers issued a statement saying the players were willing to begin playing while negotiations continued.

But he did not mention that possible binding arbitration was one of the factors the owners had to consider.

Wills' statement said "all the players of the Dodgers agree that we would like to start the 1972 season immediately. We want to play ball."

"It is also our hope that the major league baseball owners and the players' association can, in the meantime, continue the negotiations."

The first general strike in the 103-year history of major league baseball already has seen the entire schedule wiped out since the season was scheduled to begin Wednesday and the clubs stand to lose a minimum of $250,000 if Saturday's program can't be held.

Frank Cashen, the Baltimore Orioles' executive vice president, said if the strike continued for another week the season probably would have to be shortened.

"If the strike ends by the weekend, we could make up the lost games," Cashen said. "If it goes into next week, I don't think it will be practical to do so."

"He led the players into this unfortunate and embarrassing situation. And, since he is so brilliant and everyone else so stupid, let's see him lead them out of this mess."

Foster Knocks Out Rondon In Second

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Bob Foster buried Venezuela's Vicente Rondon under a barrage of punches Friday night and scored a second-round knockout to win the undisputed world light-heavyweight boxing title.

Foster, a 33-year-old New Mexico policeman, floored the South American with a brilliant left jab earlier in the round and then put him away with five seconds remaining.

It was the 26th victory in 27 fights for the man from Albuquerque, who had the World

Boxing Association crown snatched from his head 15 months ago for "inadequate defenses."

Rondon won the vacant WBA title and defended successfully four times before running into Foster, the slender 6-foot-3 powerhouse puncher who has never lost to a light-heavyweight.

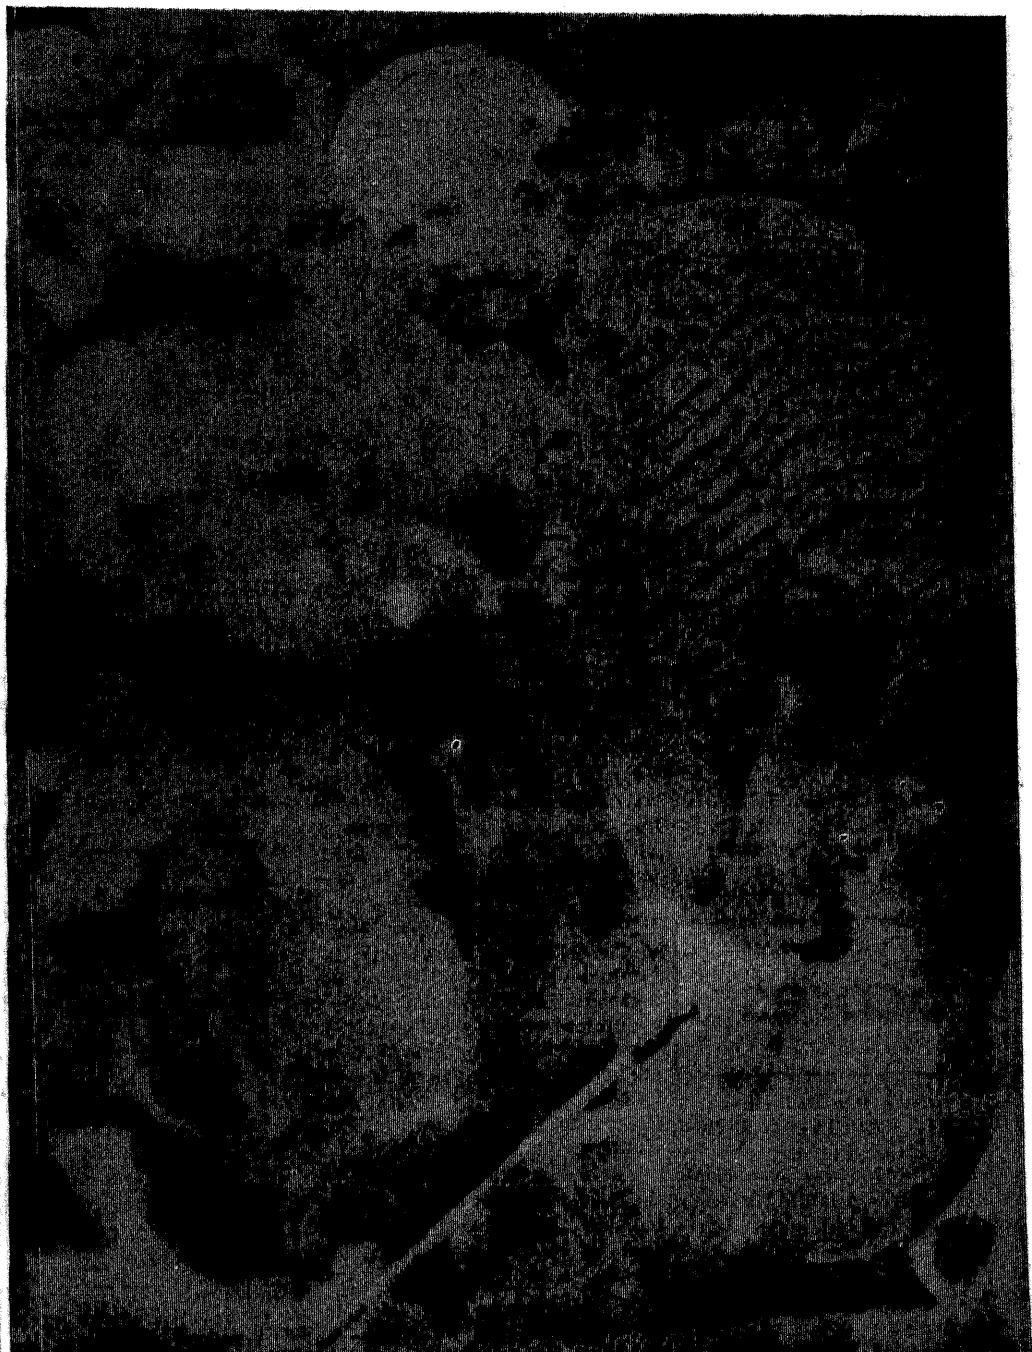

A Miami Beach Convention Hall crowd of 6,131 paid up to $50 for the bout, which guaranteed each fighter $50,000.

Rondon remained on the canvas for several minutes after having his face bloodied and smashed by the 33-year-old

Foster, who had predicted a knockout by round 5.

Rondon, 28, weighed in at 177 pounds, two over the light-heavyweight limit, but the fight was allowed to go on when Foster's manager, Lou Viscusi, agreed in disgust to allow the Miami Beach Boxing Commission to announce the weight as 175.

Foster weighed 175. Foster's career record is 47-5, with all the defeats against heavyweights. His only loss in the last six years was a second round knockout to heavyweight king Joe Frazier two years ago.

Reserves Spark Celtics, 124-114

BOSTON (AP) — Reserves Steve Kuberski, Henry Finkel and Don Nelson came off the bench to spark the Boston Celtics to a 124-114 victory over the Atlanta Hawks Friday night for a 3-2 lead in their National Basketball Association Eastern Conference semifinal playoff.

Kuberski, who saw little action during the regular season, scored 20 points. Finkel contributed key baskets in the decisive fourth period drive while spelling center Dave Cowens, who picked up a fifth personal foul in the fourth minute of the third quarter.

Nelson had 16 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Kuberski chipped in with 10 rebounds.

The Celtics can wrap up their best-of-seven semifinal series with a victory in Atlanta Sunday afternoon. A seventh game, if necessary, will be played in Boston Wednesday night.

ST. LOUIS: August A. Busch, Jr., President of the St. Louis Cardinals and spokesman for baseball owners, Friday rejected the latest offer by the players' representative Marvin Miller to begin the baseball season. Busch said, "As far as we're concerned, there will be no compromise. If a reasonable offer is made by Miller, the owners would give it consideration, but a 17 per cent increase in the pension benefits is completely out."

Stars End Sweep

DALLAS (AP) — Six Utah Stars scored in double figures including 21 points by substitute Ron Boone as the Stars scored a 103-99 victory over the Dallas Chapparrals Friday night to sweep their American Basketball Association West Division semifinal playoff series 4-0.

The Chaps had balanced scoring, too, with six players hitting for double figures, but couldn't overcome a cold streak early in the second half.

Utah took a 26-25 first quarter lead after trailing by as much as seven points in the period. The Stars were led in the quarter by Glenn Combs with 10 points, while Donnie Freeman paced the Chaps with 13.

The Stars held a 55-54 margin at halftime after six ties and four lead changes in the second quarter. Freeman again paced Dallas with 11 points in the period while Boone came off the bench to hit 10 points in the quarter for the Stars.

Utah opened the third period with a 16-2 streak and went on to lead by as much as 16 points in the quarter, but the Chaps cut the margin to 80-72 by the end of the period.

The final margin was as close as the Chaps could get in the fourth quarter as Rich Jones hit a three-point basket for Dallas just before the final buzzer.

In the West Division finals, the Stars will meet the winner of the Indiana Pacers-Denver Rockets playoff series that now stands at 2-2.

Cubs Get Hurler In Expos Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs Friday traded infielder shortstop Hector Torres and first baseman Hal Breeden to the Montreal Expos for relief pitcher Dan McGinn.

McGinn, 27, former football punting star for Notre Dame, last season had a 1-4 record in 28 Expo appearances, but in 1969 and 1970 posted identical 7-10 marks as both a starter and reliever for Montreal.

In an obvious move to bolster a questionable bullpen, the Cubs gave up a good glove man in Torres, 26, who batted .224 in 31 Cub games last season, and a long-ball hitting reserve in Breeden, who divided 1971 between the Cubs and their Tacoma farm club.

Breeden's brother, Dan, is a catcher for the Cubs' Wichita club.

Willie Shoemaker won five straight races last year with MacArthur Park, then a 2-year-old racing in California.

Friday's unseasonably cold weather wiped out the local spring sports schedule. Four baseball games involving local squads, as well as a tennis match, were called off.

The Illinois College at Culver-Stockton baseball twinbill was called and rescheduled for next Wednesday, starting at 1:00. The IC at Blackburn tennis match was postponed until April 19.

The Routt vs Quincy Catholic Boys diamond contest was postponed, making five straight postponements for the Rocket team which has yet to see action.

Friday's MacMurray vs Val-paraiso baseball game was cancelled, with Saturday's double-header against Eastern Illinois also halted.

Ali, Quarry Set June 12 Fight Date

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Top heavyweight contenders Muhammad Ali and Jerry Quarry signed a contract Friday to fight here June 12.

It will be the second match between Ali, the No. 1 ranked contender, and Quarry, rated No. 2. Ali stopped Quarry in 1970 in their previous meeting.

The contract provides Ali a minimum of $500,000, with Quarry to get $175,000. The fight will be staged either in the Las Vegas Convention Center or outdoors in Las Vegas Stadium.

Las Vegas fight promoter Bill Miller said arrangements were being made to televise the fight nationally via closed circuit.

Earlier in the day, matchmaker Don Fraser announced in Inglewood, Calif., that unbeaten George Foreman had agreed to fight Quarry there early in July.

Three Lettermen Back For Clan Tennis Season

Three returning lettermen will be counted upon heavily as MacMurray College's tennis squad was to open its 1972 season Saturday against Principia College in Elsinh.

Headed by the list of returnees is sophomore Bob Evans of Cincinnati (Oak Hills H.S.), who held down the number one spot of last season. The 1971 Highlanders finished with a 4-6 dual meet record, and placed fourth in the tough Midland Conference Tournament.

Also back from the 1971 starting lineup are senior Harry Noerenberg (Oak Lawn) and junior Brian Burris (Freeport). A fourth singles entrant against Principia will be Ron Phillips, freshman from Toluca.

Four other squad members are currently vying for the number 5 and 6 starting spots. They are Earl McMurray, junior from Scarsdale, N.Y.; Dave Harper, junior from Chicago; Stacy Terris, freshman from Milwaukee (Dominican); and Robbie Heiser, sophomore from Beachwood, Ohio.

The Highlander tennis squad is coached by MacMurray Athletic Director William L. Wall.

Ryun Impressive, 2 Run :09.3 100s

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — World record holder Jim Ryun, trying to round into shape for the United States Olympic trials, sped to an impressive 20-yard victory in a special 800-yard run Friday night in the Texas Relays.

Ryun, who set the world record of 1:44.9 six years ago when he was 18 years old, loped to victory in 1:48.1 as he out-distanced former Kansas State star Ken Swenson.

Ryun's performance followed a record performance in the University distance medley relay by Kansas State. Jerome Howe's 3:57.9 anchor in the mile propelled the Wildcats to a 9:34.4. The old mark was 9:36.5 by Abilene Christian in 1966.

In the other relay events Friday night, Louisiana State grabbed the sprint medley in 3:18.5 and Texas-El Paso captured the 880 in 1:23.7.

Says Lakers Can Knock Off Bucks

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, who beat the Milwaukee Bucks in four of five regular season meetings, have the tools to dethrone the National Basketball Association champions in the playoffs.

So says Golden State Coach Al Attles—but with plenty of reservations.

The Bucks eliminated Attles' Warriors four games to one in the Western Conference semifinals to qualify to meet the Lakers starting Sunday in Los Angeles.

"The edge, if there is any, has got to go to Los Angeles because of the health factor," Attles said. "You can't just pick up and get right back with it after being out a week or two."

Attles referred to the Bucks' injury problems at guard. Regular Oscar Robertson still can't go full speed because of a strained abdomen suffered more than two months ago. Reserves Wally Jones and Jon McGlocklin are out with a score foot and back ailments, respectively.

"It's a matter of whether their people who can play can hold on until the sick people get well," Attles said. "But the Bucks are the champs until they're beaten."

Attles was asked if he thought the Bucks, with their injuries, are weaker than they were last year when they rolled to the NBA title.

"Well, they beat us four games to one last year and again this year in the playoffs," he said. "I know we have a much better ball club than we did last year."

"The Bucks lost three more games than they did last year, but the league is three games tougher than it was with teams like Buffalo and Portland getting stronger."

"The oddsmakers might favor the Lakers, but I don't think the Bucks are too concerned with the oddsmakers," he said.

Daniel Breaks 200 Butterfly Record In AAU

DALLAS, (AP) — Confident Ellie Daniel, the world record holder in the women's 200-meter butterfly, added the American 200-yard record to her butterfly collection with a 2:03.37 clocking in the preliminaries of the National AAU Short Course Swimming Championships Friday.

Miss Daniel broke the old American record of 2:03.9 set by Lynn Colella of Cascade Swim Club in 1970 with splits of 28.0, 58.7, 1:30.7 and 2:03.37.

"Having the record in the 200 meters helped my confidence, Miss Daniel said. "I'm also in good shape right now and I feel great."

Miss Colella swam in the preliminary heat following Miss Daniel and qualified third into Friday night's finals, when eight championships will be decided. Alice Jones of the Cincinnati Pepsi Marlins, the defending champion, also is in the championship finals.

Gary Hall qualified first for the finals in the men's 200-yard butterfly with a preliminary time of 1:50.08. He'll be up against teammate Mark Spitz of Indiana University, who holds the pending American record of 1:46.89.

Miss Colella also will defend her championship in the 200-yard breaststroke. She holds the American record of 2:21.93 set at last year's meet and qualified first for the finals at 2:25.58.

Brian Job of the Santa Clara Swim Club, who set a pending American record 2:02.59 in the 200-yard breaststroke at the NCAA meet, led qualifiers into finals of the event.

Susie Atwood of the Lake-wood Aquatic Club, who already has established two American records in the meet, took aim at a third in the 100-yard backstroke. Miss Atwood qualified first for the finals with a 59.69. Her current American record is 58.18 set at last year's meet.

Mike Stamm of Indiana, the American record holder, led qualifiers into the men's 100-yard backstroke with a 51.86 time. His American record is 51.2. Lawrence Barbiere of Yale, the NCAA champion, also was in the finals.

Santa Clara swim club was running away with the team title with a 317-151 margin over Lakewood but another duel appeared shaping up in the men's division between Indiana and Southern California.

Southern Cal had a 274-267 lead going into Friday's events. Indiana edged USC two weeks ago in the NCAA meet at West Point, N.Y.

Finals also were scheduled Friday in the men's and women's 800-yard freestyle relay.

Former Cardinal Owens Awarded $40,000 Payment

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Former defensive tackle Luke Owens of the St. Louis Cardinals has been awarded $40,000 in a breach-of-contract suit against the team.

Owens was a member of the National Football League club for seven years. In 1963 he won the Cardinals' most valuable player award.

The Circuit Court suit claimed Owens had been released by the Cardinals because of heart tests conducted in training camp in 1968. Owens' attorney Marshall Friedman, contended the heart problem had existed since 1963, and therefore, the club had forfeited the right to base the release on physical condition.

The jury in the court of Judge Michael Scott deliberated only 40 minutes before awarding the judgment to Owens Thursday.

The $40,000 was based on the fact that Owens was playing under a two-year, $20,000-a-year contract when released.

Crimson Awards Night Thursday

The annual Jacksonville High School Boosters Club Awards Night was enjoyed by a large crowd Thursday at the JHS Commons area.

Wrestling coach Tom Carmody and basketball coach Frank Long both gave talks on their recently-completed seasons. The coaches gave Most Valuable Awards, donated by the Boosters Club, with Aaron Haley the wrestling MVP and Jim Bonds getting the basketball award.

Other wrestlers receiving awards were Mark Blimling, Jack Fortado, Isaac Haley and Jim Keating. Other senior basketballers getting the awards were Ed Aring, Tim Olson, David Pack, Ger Runkel, Ed Willhite and Leland Wilson. Players on both squads also received letters.

Ruben Amaro, former major league shortstop, scouts the Crimson Awards.

BRISCO VS VIKING WAVERLY FEATURE

Another in a series of benefit wrestling shows is scheduled for Waverly Grade School gymnasium Saturday, April 22.

The main event will be a two out of three or 60-minute time limit match between Jack Brisco and Viking. The semi-final event will be a two out of three or 45-minute time limit battle between We Willie Wilson and Billy Kidd. The first match of the event, for one fall or a 20-minute time limit, will match Bob Roan and Steve Balaz.

"COUNTRY SUITE" TO BEGIN ON KMOX

Nashville, where the exciting sounds of folk, pop and country-western music is produced, will be the setting for COUNTRY SUITE, a new all-music series premiering on KMOX-TV Sunday, April 9, 9:30-10 p.m.

Don McClean, whose recording "American Pie" is among the top sellers of the year, will be special guest on the premiere program. The series' host is Billy Ed Wheeler.

Among top-name recording stars scheduled for future broadcasts are John "Gentle on My Mind" Hartford, a St. Louisan; Chet Atkins, known in music circles as "Mr. Country Guitar"; Arlo Guthrie of "Alice's Restaurant" fame, plus Linda Ronstadt, Kris Kristofferson and Mike Nesmith.

KAY MEDFORD guest stars as a widowed homemaker who wins a magazine's "Spend a Week with the Partridge Family" contest and starts running Shirley's (Shirley Jones) household in her own style in "In 25 Words or Less." The episode of "The Partridge Family" airs on ABC 7:30-8 p.m. Friday, April 14.

RULES FOR ANIMAL SURVIVAL

Deserts of the world and the astonishing variety of wildlife that fights for survival in their vastness will be examined on Bill Burrud's "Animal World" 4:30-5 p.m. Sunday, April 9, on the CBS Television Network.

Among those creatures who find the rules for survival are harsh, and the penalty for breaking them abrupt and final, are the ringtailed cat, prairie dog, rattlesnake, tarantula, Gila monster, coatiundi, bobcat and skunk.

Bill Burrud is host-narrator of "Animal World."

SEUSSIAN FELINE VERSES HIS TALE

The rhyme-scheming cat with a stovepipe hat and the lion share of fans springs from printed page into animation "Dr. Seuss' The Cat in Hat," animated Seussian spectacle to be rebroadcast Tuesday, April 11, (7-7:30 p.m.) on CBS Television Network. Theodor (Dr. Seuss) Geisel children's classic will be preceded by a rebroadcast of "Play Again, Charlie Brown" from 6:30 to 7 p.m.

SCULPTOR'S WORK ON "CAMERA THREE"

The work and philosophy of sculptor Louise Nevelson, who labored for more than 30 years before the world caught up with her genius, will be the focus of "Camera Three" 10-10:30 a.m. Sunday, April 9, on the CBS Television Network.

A film production of Spectra Films, preceded by a short survey of modern American sculpture by "Camera Three" host James MacAndrew, will assist in defining the 71-year-old Mrs. Nevelson's place in the last half century. The survey will be supplemented by photographs from "Modern American Sculpture."

Survey Concludes Obsolete Election System Denies Millions Right To Vote

By MARGARET A. KILGORE, WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millions of Americans will be denied the right to vote in the November presidential election under an obsolete election system which works to the detriment of voters and candidates alike, an independent nationwide survey concluded Sunday.

"Considering the all too frequent occurrence of complex forms, unhelpful and poorly trained staff, machine breakdowns and inconveniently located registration and polling places, it is surprising that so many citizens do vote," the League of Women Voters Education Fund said in releasing the findings.

"That the system functions at all is a tribute to the sheer determination of citizens to overcome these inconveniences and obstacles."

The statement concerned a survey financed by the Ford Foundation and conducted by more than 3,000 members of the independent League, who studied election practices in 251 communities in 50 states during the 1971 fall elections.

"Administrative behavior was observed in a non-presidential election year," the statement said, "in which various types of contests, some considerably more important and appealing than others, were at stake. This factor tends to mute the findings and conclusions drawn from this study. It is reasonable to conclude then that the findings contained might be an understatement of the problems citizens experience when participating in presidential elections."

Recognizing that situation, the Supreme Court in March invalidated lengthy residence requirements and said that 30 days residency within a state was sufficient time to be eligible to vote.

The ruling could affect those in the "mainstream of American society" who accept a company transfer, go to college, get married and move out of state, or enter military service. There are 140 million Americans of voting age this year.

League Chairman Lucy Wilson Benson cited examples which suggested that local officials have failed to use tools allowed by law to make registration and voting easier. For example, 52 per cent of the 458 registration places observed were not clearly identified, and 38 per cent of the communities had no additional registration hours available 30 days prior to the close of registration; 77 per cent of the communities studied had no Saturday registration in non-election months; 55 per cent of the communities charged a fee for providing registration lists; and 28 per cent of the communities surveyed gave poll workers either no training or minimal hours.

The survey recommended a series of remedial steps saying that "alternative strategies" would be considered at a Washington meeting April 20 of 60 citizens organizations.

The league recommended that: —The chief election official in each community use broad discretionary powers under current law to expand citizen opportunities to register and vote.

—The chief state election official ensure uniform interpretation and administration of state law by requiring local officials to comply with statewide standards.

—Identified voter needs be met through localized special services such as use of temporary and mobile registration units; expanded registration and polling hours; bilingual materials, and mandatory training sessions for poll workers.

—Citizen groups participate in selection of local election officials, monitor their decisions and work for specific administrative reforms.

—Political parties, the media and educational institutions use their influence to create and maintain a responsive and responsible election system.

"In a democratic society, no right is more fundamental than the right to vote. Regrettably, our election system is not working well," Mrs. Benson said.

RECORD INCOME FOR BAPTISTS

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI) — Budget income of the American Baptist Convention in 1971 was the largest in the history of the 64-year-old denomination, according to the Rev. Ralph R. Rott, executive director of the division of world mission support.

Income of parts I and II of the Mission Budget was $15,253,161 in 1971, compared with $14,705,780 in 1970.

"Congratulations to a 11 American Baptists for giving the largest amount in the history of the denomination to the mission budget," Mr. Rott said in reporting the figures. "This is the first time that we have gone over the $15 million mark."

RECORD INCOME FOR BAPTISTS
VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI) — Budget income of the American Baptist Convention in 1971 was the largest in the history of the 64-year-old denomination, according to the Rev. Ralph R. Rott, executive director of the division of world mission support.

Income of parts I and II of the Mission Budget was $15,253,161 in 1971, compared with $14,705,780 in 1970.

"Congratulations to a 11 American Baptists for giving the largest amount in the history of the denomination to the mission budget," Mr. Rott said in reporting the figures. "This is the first time that we have gone over the $15 million mark."

Boaters should always keep a sharp lookout for floating debris of any size. There is an old saying that you only see about one-third of an iceberg because the rest is underwater. The same could be true of what appears to be a small floating object. It could be large enough to damage a hull.

SUIT RIND TO HOOK

For catching bluegill, crappies and other panfish use a size 10 or 12 hook tipped with an Uncle Josh Little "Vee" pork rind. If a larger hook is desired, use a size 6 or 8 hook with a fly strip pork rind trailer. At times, slitting the strip to form two or more tails will help catch more fish.

Possibly, but what fly swims through the water like a spinner as it churns, whirls, flashes, flits and spins?

Then there's the idea that a spinner triggers a reflexive action in a game fish. The spinner flashes and a fish strikes, much like a human would strike out at something that suddenly flashes close to his face. This is the kind of thinking most fishermen tend to buy. Too many spinners catch fish with just the spinner and a hook, no body of any kind to imitate a minnow. So, in all probability it's the spinner.

Generally speaking, spinners come in two classes, blade and propeller. Blade spinners hang down from a fixed shaft and spin when pulled through the water or held in fast current. Blade spinners impart a throb, or pulsation, which can be felt by the angler. The sizes, shapes, and variations of the blade spinners seem endless.

Propeller spinners spin on a fixed shaft and because most designs are perfectly balanced to spin smoothly, they give off little or no vibration. But, some are made off-center to give the type of beat imparted by a blade spinner.

Familiar spinner names are Colorado, Indiana, Idaho, Mepps, and Rooster Tail. The Mepps and Rooster Tail spinners are very popular in this area for our types of game fish. A size 3-0 Colorado spinner ahead of a single hook with one garden worm impaled on it makes a very effective bluegill and crappie rig.

Bass are a natural for weight-eded spinners. For general needs a beginners selection should include an assortment of sizes from 1/4 to 5/8 ounce. To find the big bass, cast near shore cover and let the spinner sink, then start it off with an upward sweep of the rod tip. Your retrieve should be s-l-o-w, so slow that the spinner almost stops working. You must learn the feel a spinner transmits through your line so you can tell when it is faltering or not working at all.

Spinner fishing is easy for the beginner to learn.

Fishing News Notes

By DICK SELLARS

Several people have asked me where do I go fishing the most? I would have to say Table Rock Lake in southwestern Missouri. I go because I think it is one of the prettiest lakes I know of. It has deep water, so you won't run aground any place, 5 foot from the shore, it has lots of trees and timber along the shores, but not over in the channel or at least it is so deep you won't tear a bottom out of the boat and most of all I have fished it several times and I kind of know what areas to fish.

This happens right here at home when you fish a lake or pond, you will catch fish in the same area time and time again, trying to remember where you caught fish before. Then remember under what kind of conditions was it cloudy and over cast, sunshiny and what time of year.

Many fishermen study lakes scientifically, they take the water temperature on top and on the bottom of the lake, they keep records of what time of the year, what the temperature of the air is, and the temperature of the water. If cloudy or sunny? They keep it in a diary and refer to it time and time again.

When you are fishing your favorite pond or lake, remember where you caught fish at this time last year. Fish that same area and you will find bass more than likely in the same place. I like water 68° and cloudy and over cast for best fishing.

Keep using single spinners and tandem spinners these coming weeks. Yellow, yellow and black on bright days, black and purple spinners on over cast days. If anyone is interested in joining a Bass Club contact me in the near future at my store. We are going to have a movie on bass fishing on the 17th of April and discuss the possibilities of a Club at that time.

Chilly weather has kept most fishermen in the past week. A few fishermen have caught Channel Cat at the locks at Beardstown, a few bass and crappie from strip mines and farm ponds. They have caught a few crappie at KeLaSu Marina. Chandlerville area is pretty slow. Greene County area reports some bass in area farm ponds. Crappie and bass have been good at Shelbyville. Sangchris has been slow, but I have heard of a few 4 to 6 lb. bass being taken on bushwackers.

Mike Crouse caught the largest bass of his life on Sunday of last week a 5 lb. bass on a bass trap, then caught a 5 lb. 15 oz. bass on Tuesday on a scorpion, to take over the largest bass of the year and month over Dan Artholony and his 5 3/4 lb. bass.

Dave Lewis still has the largest crappie of the year with a 1 lb. 8 oz. caught on a minnow. No one has brought in any blue gill of any size yet. So get fishing — now is the time. Your best fishing will be in the next few weeks. Bring your fish in for a picture and enter for prizes at D & D SPORTS CENTER.

April Bass Hotspots In Ill.

The following sport-fishing prospects for Central Illinois waters have been furnished by the field fishery biologists of the Illinois Department of Conservation. Predictions by the biologists are based on pre-season surveys such as electro-fishing, seining, and gill netting as well as their experience and familiarity with local waters and observations of last summer's angler catches.

GILLESPIE NEW CITY LAKE: Macoupin county, three miles northwest of Gillespie. Best baits to use are artificial baits. Best area to fish is along weed beds. Average size, three pounds.

OTTER LAKE: Macoupin county 6.5 miles west of Girard. Best baits to use are artificial baits. Best area to fish is shallow coves and upper end of lake. Average size: two pounds.

LAKE LOU YAEGER: Montgomery county two miles northeast of Litchfield. Best baits to use are artificial baits and minnows. Best area to fish is upper and around brush. Average size: 2 1/2 pounds.

HOMER LAKE: Champaign county two miles north and one mile west of Homer. Best baits to use are Rooster Tail Spinners and Hot Spot. Best area to fish is brush and shallow shoreline, fallen trees, etc. Average size: one pound.

LINCOLN TRAIL LAKE: Clark county five miles south of Marshall. Best baits to use are purple worm, jig and spinner, and Cordell hot spot. Best area to fish is brush and fallen trees. Average size: one pound.

LAKE SHELBYVILLE: Shelby county east side of Shelbyville. Best baits to use are lead-head jigs with offset spinners and shad imitators. Best area to fish is anywhere around cover. Average size: approximately one pound.

LAKE SPRINGFIELD: Sangamon county five miles south of Springfield. Best baits to use are artificial lures. Average size: two pounds.

LAKE JACKSONVILLE: Morgan county two miles southeast of Jacksonville. Best baits to use are artificial lures. Average size: three pounds.

SPRING LAKE: Tazewell county six miles northwest of Manito. Best baits to use are artificial lures. Best area to fish is the north end. Average size: three pounds.

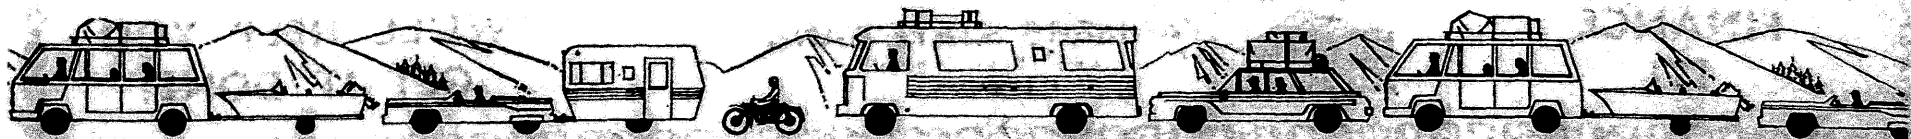

Merle Lucas, Jr. of 1508 W. Lafayette displays a beautiful catch of bass taken from a private pond near Jacksonville last weekend. Lucas has at least three five-pounders in the group and chalked up better than twenty pounds for the entire catch. It was a good head-start on the fishing season and one he was justifiably proud of.

Go Anywhere ATV's

They're not very pretty, but then they're not supposed to be. They're built for utility and no one will argue their practicality. All-terrain vehicles (ATV's) will take you where you want to go—over sand, snow, mud, ice, through swamps and ditches, and even across water. That's right—if you're a hunter pursuing his quarry and you come to a lake or stream, you just keep going in your ATV.

ATV's come with four, six, or eight wheels. Most have super-soft balloon tires carrying one pound of air pressure which gives them an amazing ability to grip slippery surfaces. Others have crawler tracks and some have conventional tires with optional tracks that can be slipped over tires for added traction in snow.

ATV engines are usually small but peppy. Most range from seven to 30 h.p. and can handle loads of up to 1,000 pounds. They are either two (Turn To Page Two) or four cycle engines that burn gas or an oil and gas mixture. A two- or three-gallon tank of fuel gives them a cruising range of 100 to 150 miles. They can cruise for 1½ to 12 hours.

Enthusiasts of all-terrain vehicles argue that these "gutsy" little carriers offer advantages that snowmobiles can't hope to match. Their versatility, they point out, makes them usable all-year around. In summer, you have a boat and a small dune buggy. In the fall, a great vehicle for hunting, and in the winter, a mode of transportation that defies blizzards, ice storms, muck or mud.

ATV racing has become a popular sport. Courses are set up that combine steep hills, mud, swamps, snow, gulleys and sharp curves, and ATV enthusiasts compete for prizes. Regional rallies are run throughout the year with a Grand National All-Terrain Vehicle Championship Race run yearly. Last year's Grand National at Pine Knob, a posh ski resort north of Pontiac, Michigan, drew entries from 24 states and Canada. Jerry Beard from Arenzville won the grand national in the children's division. He was driving an Allis Chalmers Terra Tiger from Beard Implement, Arenzville, Illinois. Almost 30,000 spectators came to watch the thrills and spills that are part and parcel of every ATV rally.

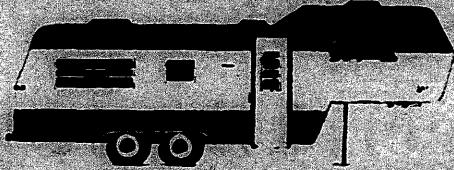

For all of the thousands of enthusiasts and commercial users of ATV's that now abound, these vehicles—in their present form—are relatively late on the scene. In fact, they really began as an idea of a Canadian machinist, Ron Beehoo of Streetsville, Ontario, 15 years ago and only have been marketed in America since 1966.

Johnny Carson featured one on his Tonight Show. As a result, the all-terrain vehicle industry got off to a fast start and is still growing. Now some 70 ATV manufacturers and thousands of dealers are in business. Fifty thousand ATV's will be produced in 1972 according to the experts, and these same experts see annual sales of 250,000 units by 1975.

ATV enthusiasts are quick to point out that these all-weather vehicles are great for families. They enable families to "get away from it all" together, to explore uninhabited areas, to commune with nature and take the "small fry" places they couldn't hope to reach afoot. The criticism of conservationists, farmers and country dwellers that ATV's invade their peace and tranquility is also being answered. The National All-Terrain Vehicle Association is working diligently with local and state governments to open up areas for ATV's where they can travel without bothering the local citizenry.

If you're interested in buying an all-terrain vehicle for recreational use, you can buy one for under $2,000. At least three of the 70 ATV manufacturers offer models for under $1,000. For heavier utility models, you'll pay $3,000 to $4,000 or more. Options offered include lights, windshields, tonneau covers, heated cabs, and snowplow attachments.

Spinning Lures

The Spinner has the impressive distinction of being deadly for more species of fish than probably any other lure. The Spinner is one of the earliest and always the latest of artificial lures. In the 1800's one of the earliest patents for artificial lures was issued to W. T. Lowe, whose spinners still are in use today. Rarely does a year pass without the introduction of one or more new spinner lures, with reports of a hot one chalking up impressive totals of fish.

Why do so many species of fish go for a spinner—Well, ask a dozen fishermen and you get a dozen theories.

Obviously, there's the flash of the spinner. This can be likened to the flash of a minnow's body as it darts and flits about. And yet, who ever saw a minnow swim as steadily as a spinner? A minnow flashes occasionally, a spinner's flash is continuous, so this theory is hard to buy all the way.

Then, there's the theory that the spinner antagonizes a fish and it busts that whirling spinner out of annoyance or anger.

Another theory claims that the spinner ahead of a fly, bucktail, feather, metal or other type body gives the appearance of a minnow chasing a fly. And, a larger fish sees this as a chance to gobble down the minnow while it is absorbed in fly chasing.

TWO RODS BETTER

When you're fishing from a boat, it's a good idea to set up two rods. Rig one with a surface lure, the other with hardware that travels deep. Used alternately, they'll help you discover where the fish are hitting, save you time changing lures and, if one rod or reel "goes out" on you, the other will keep you in business.

FIND RIGHT LEVEL

When jigging in deep water, it is important to find the level at which the fish are hitting. Once you hook a fish, it's a good idea to quickly mark your line so that you can lower it again to the same depth. A short length of plastic tape makes a good marker.

IF TRAILER SWAYS

If your boat trailer sways when you're underway, it is probably tail-heavy, or tire pressure is too low. Move the boat forward on the trailer, or shift equipment forward in the boat.
